REPLACES SHEPILOV

Expect Gromyko To Change U.S., Soviet Relations

MOSCOW, Feb. 15 (UPI)—The Soviet Union Friday dismissed Dmitri T. Shepilov, architect of Russian Mid-East policy, as foreign minister and replaced him with Andrei Gromyko, American affairs expert. Shepilov had the post for nine months and 14 days.

Dubach Youth Hurt Critically By Gun Shot

SHREVEPORT, Feb. 15 (Special) — Eighteen-year-old Ken Colvin, a Dubach High School senior, was undergoing surgery tonight for a critical gunshot wound in the head suffered at his Dubach home this afternoon.

The accident victim was rushed here from Ruston and surgery began at 8 p.m. He was still in the operating room late tonight.

The .22-caliber bullet entered the youth's right cheek and ranged upward before lodging near the top of his head.

Lincoln parish Sheriff Jesse Riser termed the incident an accident.

VERSION GIVEN

It is believed the pistol discharged as the popular youth twirled it around his fingers in his room at home. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Colvin, Dubach.

Mrs. Colvin said he was studying in his room when the accident happened. She said she walked past the room and saw him studying and twirling the revolver on his fingers.

She rushed into the room when the shot rang out and found him unconscious with the bullet wound in the cheek.

Preliminary treatment and X-rays were rendered at a Ruston hospital before the victim was removed by ambulance to Shreveport. Plasma was administered enroute.

Psychiatrist Promises To Name Reds

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)—A New Orleans psychiatrist today agreed to give a House Un-American activities subcommittee the names of persons he recruited into the Communist Party.

But Dr. William Sorum said he would reveal the names only in a closed session. He said he was certain the eight or 10 recruits, most of whom were students at the time, were no longer members of the Communist Party. Some of them, he said, left the party in 1951 when he was expelled from membership because of his lack of interest.

LAST WITNESS

Dr. Sorum was the last witness at the two-day hearing conducted here by the three-man subcommittee. Most of the final afternoon session was devoted to his testimony.

Immediately after the close of the hearing, the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Willis (D-La.) went into executive session to listen to the remainder of Dr. Sorum's testimony.

Willis told newsmen in the information obtained at the open hearings and from the closed session with Dr. Sorum may lead to future probes here. He said the final decision on that would be made later in Washington by the full House Un-American Activities Committee.

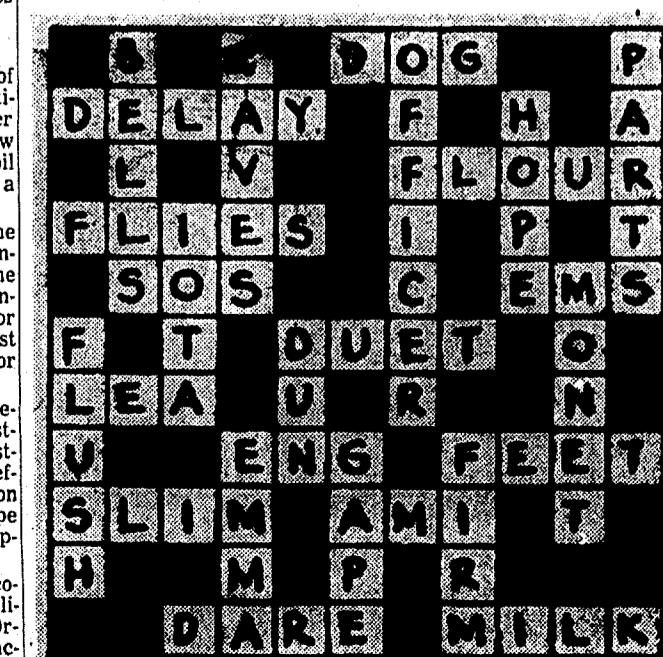

REMINDER

In his statement at the close of the hearing, Willis said the testimony heard here "is a reminder of the stark fact that there are now operating on American soil trained hard core agents of a world conspiracy."

"In the face of this situation the American people must be constantly alert. No longer does the Communist Party operate openly. The time is long since past for the Communist Party to consist merely of starry-eyed idealists or intellectual dupes."

Willis said the hearings had revealed "quite pointedly the existence of several loopholes in existing law, particularly with reference to the legislation now on the statute books designed to cope with the flood of Communist propaganda entering our shores."

Dr. Sorum was the second cooperative witness of the day. Earl E. Arthur Eugene Jr., a New Orleans Negro, had outlined his activities as a Communist from 1948

The new Morning World crossword puzzle jackpot—the first offered since last week's double barrel strike for $475—moved easily through ranks of contestants with its $100 cargo intact.

There were no winners, and no one came close to a solution, judges reported.

The puzzle to be carried in Monday and Tuesday editions will be teamed with a jackpot valued at $100.

Here are explanations of the more difficult clues to solution of this week's puzzle:

IN GARDEN PLOTS HERE

Vegetable Planting Rush Is Reported

The bracing aroma of freshly plowed earth is a sign of the times. It's gardening season again and the rush is on in both city and rural areas of Ouachita parish.

Twin Cities dealers report a brisk upsurge in sale of vegetable seeds and fertilizers, and County Agent J. J. Joyce, Jr., has been busy answering a broad range of questions on planting and preparation of gardens.

There are some people closely associated with this phase of agricultural activity, who think more home gardens are in the making this year than last. Several of them cleave to the belief that economic conditions and talk of inflation may have something to do with this trend.

T. R. Yonse of West Monroe who, with mule-power, has plowed gardens around the Twin Cities for many years, said the current season is shaping up as one of the best.

MORE REQUESTS

He said he had received more requests for earth turning this season than he did last year. The reason, he said, is that people are worrying about increasing food prices and want to raise their own vegetables.

A local seed dealer, John Birdsong, observed "The money is getting a little short. People are interested in planting vegetables. There are more gardens this year than last."

County Agent Joyce related that "there are quite a few inquiries about gardens, but I can hardly tell this early how the number will compare with other years. Gardening goes in cycles. More is done some years than others. I really think finances have something to do with it."

Giving several favorable points for pressing small plots of land into production, he added, "Vegetables fresh from home garden to table are better than ones shipped in. There's healthful exercise involved in making a garden, and a good family garden is worth from $150 on up a year, depending on its size and use."

As a timely afterthought, he said, "And that's something you don't have to pay income tax on."

Yesterday a plow was thrusting through some two-acres of garden land on the Wiley Thompson place on Garrett Road, and planting plans were ready to be put into practice. A wide selection of vegetables will be planted. Garden produce will be consumed by members of the Thompson family — which actually em-

The other booked with murder include Lloyd James Cook, 19, James Russell Martin, 17, Mohamad Anthony Ally, 18, Ulysses Smith, 18, and Robert Joseph Anthony, 19.

One more boy is being sought.

Chicago Aide Loses Job On Grimes Case

But Police Back Up Contentions On Sex Assault

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (UP)—Police backed up charges of sexual molestation and cover-up in the mystery of two murdered sisters Friday, but the coroner's investigator who made the charges was fired.

Coroner Walter C. McCarron dismissed his chief investigator, Harry Glos, for calling a sensational news conference at his home Thursday night.

Glos charged that the two sisters, Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, had been beaten, tortured and sexually molested before their nude, frozen bodies were found in a ditch Jan. 22. He said the facts had been suppressed, perhaps to protect the feelings of the girls' mother.

DETECTIVE AGREES

Chief of Detectives Patrick Deely said Friday that Glos was at least partially right. A police crime laboratory micro-analyst had established weeks ago that Barbara had sexual intercourse with a man shortly before her death, Deely said. This would constitute statutory rape.

Deely did not back up Glos' charges of torture and beatings, saying it was not the police function to establish such things. A team of pathologists, however, has reported to McCarron that there was no evidence of violence or sexual molestation on the girls' bodies and that they probably froze to death on the night of their disappearance from their neighborhood, Dec. 28.

McCarron fired Glos, an ambitious, tough-talking ex-policeman, on grounds that his news conference (Continued on Sixth Page)

FOLLOWING SUIT

Brownell was personally attacked by Passman earlier in the day with Rainach later following suit on the civil rights bills program of the attorney general advocates.

When contacted in Homer, the outspoken senator on civil rights issues held the bills as being "patently designed to bypass the Constitution of the United States."

The civil rights bills will give the federal government power to intervene in civil rights cases if they are passed by Congress.

Rainach further charged that they were meant "to put the federal government into the business of supervising registration and elections in violation of law."

Brownell's appearance before the House Judiciary Subcommittee was tagged as an "intolerable interference" by Passman, who said he would like to see the attorney general indicted by the federal grand jury.

Even President Eisenhower was dragged into the scuffle, as charged with "directing" Brownell, according to Passman. He said Brownell is "playing politics fast and loose."

"An exhaustive federal inquiry has failed to turn up a single legally registered voter who was removed from the rolls of Ouachita parish," Rainach said.

He said the inquiry's failure to reveal violations was the most important point and that it has been overlooked.

"Brownell's testimony also overlooks the fact that there are tens of thousands of illegally registered voters still on the rolls in other parishes in Louisiana," he said. "I am sure that this condition would apply to other states—both North and South."

Rainach pointed out the fact that white people who were improperly registered were challenged also in Ouachita parish.

"The attorney general did not concern himself with them," he said.

The states, Rainach said, have the right to establish the qualifications of voters.

"The federal government has no legal concern whatsoever," as long as the state laws and their (Continued on Sixth Page)

TALKS CONFIRMED

Spokesmen for the United States and Norway confirmed that negotiations are in progress but said it is too early to speak of an agreement.

Norway is working closely with the Big Three powers because of her role as one of the major users of the Suez.

The authoritative source, however, said the United States, Britain, France and Norway have agreed on the following idea for an interim arrangement:

1. All ships, no matter what flag, will have freedom of passage through the Suez Canal when it is opened.

2. Tolls will be paid into a neutral account, such as the International Bank, with some part of the receipts to go to Egypt for operating purposes.

OPENS SOON

The vital waterway, blocked by wrecks when Britain and France invaded Egypt last fall, is expected to be opened to light shipping early in March. Britain and France have been pressing Hammarskjold for an interim arrangement before the canal is reopened.

It was the first Soviet statement in the United Nations after the announcement yesterday in the day that Andrei Gromyko has replaced Dmitri Shepilov as foreign minister in Moscow.

The United States voted against putting the Soviet charge on the agenda of the Assembly, although it had voted to permit debate when the 16-nation Steering Committee decided yesterday to bar the Soviet charge.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said the committee's vote represented U.N. rejection of the Soviet accusations, and the United States could not countenance a further waste of time.

He called the Russian charge "a clumsy and transparent propaganda maneuver reminiscent of the worst days of Stalinism."

Brownell And Erwin Clash In Rights Hearing

RAINACH TAKES STAND

Many Lash Out At Brownell Reports

Atty Gen. Brownell's reports on Southern violations of civil rights were taken to task yesterday in rebuttals echoing from Washington, D.C. to north Louisiana.

As Senator Ervin—a Democrat from North Carolina—confronted Brownell in person at the capitol in Washington, State Sen. William Rainach of Homer joined with Rep. Otto E. Passman of Monroe in making defense statements for the South and particularly Ouachita parish.

Brownell was personally attacked by Passman earlier in the day with Rainach later following suit on the civil rights bills program of the attorney general advocates.

Postal Group Told Pay Hike Measures Strongly Opposed

Local postal employees were work hard for it. I believe it will told last night by a number of come." The postal man pointed out that the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce had distributed letters saying "postal workers are paid higher than the average worker and they need no raise at the present time."

About 45 postal employees, mostly from Monroe and West Monroe, heard William Stracner, president of the state organization of the National Association of Letter Carriers outline plans for concerted action on the local scene to get the bills through Congress.

E. J. Burg, secretary of the Central Labor Trade Council spoke briefly at the meeting and extended an invitation to postal employees to become associated with the labor organization "for concerted action."

Stracner said he saw no motive for the Chamber of Commerce fighting the postal man's proposed increase in salary.

In closing Stracner requested that all workers get behind the move to "convince your Congress man you need the pay raise."

Gobbler Gets By Eisenhower

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 15 (UPI)—President Eisenhower's hunting luck finally ran out on him today.

The President, who bagged a 22-pound wild turkey Wednesday, tried for another gobbler this morning. But this time he didn't even get a shot at one.

Eisenhower hunted quail or turkey every day but one since he arrived here a week ago as the vacation guest of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. This was the first day he brought down nary a bird.

The President hunted today with Humphrey and his wife; John Hay (Jock) Whitney, the new ambassador to Great Britain; and George E. Allen, Washington businessman who owns a farm near Eisenhower's at Gettysburg, Pa.

After the round of hunting Eisenhower returned to the Humphrey plantation and arranged to confer there tonight and tomorrow morning with Secretary of State Dulles and Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations, regarding the Middle East situation.

Federal Agents Take Custody Of Young Suspect

Commenting on this statement said that the postal employees are about four or five steps behind employees in private industries as far as standard of living is concerned.

Lawrence Gibbs, Ouachita parish representative, present at the meeting offered to answer any questions for the group that dealt with the legislative procedures of putting the bills through one of the law making bodies.

Oscar Floyd, local labor leader in the Central Trade Council, also extended an invitation to the postal employees to become a part of the council.

He said, "somebody always needs help," adding that he would support the actions of the group.

Stracner, who held the highest optimistic note of the group, said "To get the raise we want, gentlemen, we are going to have to

Three persons were sentenced to jail on charges of vagrancy.

Kennedy made the announcement that Miss Kelly, and not the police, found the compensation case file that led to the arrest of George Metesky as New York City's long-sought "mad bomber."

Miss Kelly has said she would not claim the $26,000 reward offered for the arrest of the bomber.

SILVERSTEIN'S

HITS A NEW HIGH—Attractive Liz DuRoss of Fairfax, Va., poses on a ladder to call attention yesterday to the 170,000,000 figure on the census clock at the department of Commerce in Washington. The electrical register, which operates continuously, translates these vital statistics to compute the population figure: a birth every 8 seconds; a death every 21 seconds; an immigrant every 2 minutes; an emigrant each 24 minutes. The result: a gain of one person each 12 seconds. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Population Now Above 170 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UPI)—A huge electric chart in the lobby of the Commerce Department building registered the 170 millionth inhabitant of the United States Friday.

And the Census Bureau forecast that the chart will chalk up new inhabitants at an increasing pace in the future.

The bureau said the largest increases in the unprecedented population growth of the nation in recent years have been among school and pre-school children.

BIRTH EVERY 8 SECONDS

The chart keeps tab of the population on an estimated basis. It signals a birth every eight seconds, a death every 21 seconds and the arrival of an immigrant every two minutes.

Every 12 seconds, another American is added to the total population.

The bureau said the population has grown by nearly 19 million since the last official census in 1950 when the population stood at 151.1 million. The increase in the past seven years was almost the same as that in the 10-year period between 1940 and 1950.

Census officials said the number of children of elementary school age increased by 31.7 per cent between 1950 and 1956 to a new total of 292 million. This was nearly three times the 11.2 per cent rate of increase for all age groups.

PRE-SCHOOL GROUP LARGE

There also were larger than average increases of 15.6 per cent in the pre-school age group, 13.5 per cent in the high school age group, and 18.3 per cent among persons over 65 years of age.

The rate of population growth has been increasing rapidly since May, 1959, when there were 5 million Americans in the new country. That was when George Washington was sworn in as general-in-chief of the Army.

By states, the biggest growth

As usual drunk drivers drew the largest monetary fines in a crowded session of Fourth District Court which lasted until about 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

Nine persons were fined $300 and costs on drunk driving charges as a number of others pleaded guilty to felony charges and misdemeanors.

The nine were: Jack W. Fillpot, Henry Wilson, Tillman Frazier, Aubrey M. Broussard, Tom P. Cresswell, Whelbert C. DeBose, Robert J. Hill, and Pierce W. Henry.

Samuel Swift, the ninth offender, drew the heaviest fine and sentence, being convicted a second time of the charge. He was fined $400 and costs and given 125 days in the Ouachita parish jail.

In addition he was given 30 days and $50 for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license and sentenced to 30 days and $50 for operating with revoked license plates.

Eight Negroes charged with gambling chose to plead not guilty and their cases were not set yesterday.

Woodrow Wilson Cann, Jr., drew a six months jail sentence on a $25 theft.

J. D. Ahearn and Billy Joe Grisham were each found guilty of theft charges and were remanded for sentencing.

Jasper Joseph Rand, charged with five counts of forgery, elected to plead not guilty. His case was not set.

Worth Gords was fined $50 and costs for disturbing the peace. Everett E. Lowery was fined $200 and costs for simple obstruction of a highway and was fined $100 and costs for disturbing the peace.

A. B. Johnson was fined $25 and costs for disturbing the peace.

Joseph Montgomery was fined $100 and costs for speeding.

George A. Wright, charged with operating a motor vehicle with improper lights was fined $50 and costs.

Under the plan the Rotary Club will present a $100 scholarship to the boy or girl chosen by a selection committee. If the youth chooses to attend the University of Arkansas an additional $100 will be paid toward his education through an arrangement with the costs on violation of game laws.

The local committee will meet at the plane at the airport and will be presented with a "Crusade For Freedom" balloon of the type used in scattering information leaflets and miniature newspapers into the satellite nations behind the Iron Curtain by Free Europe Press, which along with Radio Free Europe—is supported by contributions of the American people through the annual Crusade For Freedom campaign.

Instead of being used to drop printed material, the balloon will be inflated and flown in a prominent Monroe location as a focal point for the campaign in this area.

The scholarship winner will be selected from the top one-third of the senior class and will be chosen on his character, leadership and service to his school and fellow students.

Full details on the scholarship can be obtained from the guidance counselor at the school, Meadows explained.

Nine persons were fined $300 and costs on drunk driving charges as a number of others pleaded guilty to felony charges and misdemeanors.

The nine were: Jack W. Fillpot, Henry Wilson, Tillman Frazier, Aubrey M. Broussard, Tom P. Cresswell, Whelbert C. DeBose, Robert J. Hill, and Pierce W. Henry.

Samuel Swift, the ninth offender, drew the heaviest fine and sentence, being convicted a second time of the charge. He was fined $400 and costs and given 125 days in the Ouachita parish jail.

In addition he was given 30 days and $50 for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license and sentenced to 30 days and $50 for operating with revoked license plates.

Eight Negroes charged with gambling chose to plead not guilty and their cases were not set yesterday.

Woodrow Wilson Cann, Jr., drew a six months jail sentence on a $25 theft.

J. D. Ahearn and Billy Joe Grisham were each found guilty of theft charges and were remanded for sentencing.

Jasper Joseph Rand, charged with five counts of forgery, elected to plead not guilty. His case was not set.

Postal Group Told Pay Hike Measures Strongly Opposed

Local postal employees were told last night by a number of speakers that a great deal of opposition faces their efforts to get salary raises through this term of Congress, but were given encouragement from state labor union circles.

About 45 postal employees, mostly from Monroe and West Monroe, heard William Stracher, president of the state organization of the National Association of Letter Carriers outline plans for concerted action on the local scene to get the bills through Congress.

E. J. Burg, secretary of the Central Labor Trade Council, spoke briefly at the meeting and extended an invitation to postal employees to become associated with the labor organization "for concerted action."

Stracher said he saw no motive for the Chamber of Commerce fighting the postal man's proposed increase in salary.

In closing Stracher requested that all workers get behind the move to "convince your Congressmen you need the pay raise."

Stracher apparently main speaker of the deluge who appeared, made the statement that the AFL-CIO council in Alexandria was going to back the efforts of the postal employees to get a raise.

Stracher pointed out that a meeting of the council in Alexandria would be held Tuesday to work out further plans.

The state organization president said that Otto Passman had already assured him of backing the bills which the postal employees were pushing.

He added that Sen. Russell Long said as soon as the bills cleared the committee he would give his "stamp of approval."

Stracher laid forth a series of figures which pointed to the conclusion that the postal employee is lagging behind with salary increases as compared to the industrial worker.

The postal employees are fighting for a graduated wage increase with the top salary of four brackets being $600.

Beginning salary under the new bill being pushed would be $550. Giles Davis, of the National Federation of Postal Clerks threw in the statement that it "was high time somebody stopped looking at the cost of living and began looking at the standard of living."

Commenting on this statement said that the postal employees are about four or five steps behind employees in private industries as far as standard of living is concerned.

Lawrence Gibbs, Ouachita parish representative, present at the meeting offered to answer any questions for the group that dealt with the legislative procedures of putting the bills through one of the law making bodies.

Oscar Cloyd, local labor leader in the Central Trade Council, also extended an invitation to the postal employees to become a part of the council.

He said, "somebody always needs help," adding that he would support the actions of the group.

Stracher, who held the highest optimistic note of the group, said, "To get the raise we want, gentlemen, we are going to have to

Gobbler Gets By Eisenhower

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 15 (UPI) — President Eisenhower's hunting lark finally ran out on him today.

The President, who bagged a 22-pound wild turkey Wednesday, tried for another gobbler this morning. But this time he didn't even get a shot at one.

Eisenhower has hunted quail or turkey every day but one since he arrived here a week ago as the vacation guest of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. This was the first day he brought down nary a bird.

The President hunted today with Humphrey and his wife; John Hay (Jock) Whitney, the new ambassador to Great Britain; and George E. Allen, Washington businessman who owns a farm near Eisenhower's at Gettysburg, Pa.

After the round of hunting Eisenhowe returned to the Humphrey plantation and arranged to conter there tonight and tomorrow morning with Secretary of State Dulles and Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations, regarding the Middle East situation.

'King Harry Of Harrisonia' Threatens Ike In Message

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP) — Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman unfolded the story Friday of how King Harry I of Harrisonia made a threat on the life of President Eisenhower.

Baughman told the tale in newly-released testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

He said a threatening letter signed by "King Harry I of Harrisonia" was one of 18,468 letters to the President examined by his staff last year.

This letter told the President that if he objected to the formation of a new state he would "have to reason with a .22 Winchester," Baughman said.

Agents investigated. They had little trouble tracking down the letter writer whose name actually was something like Harry Harrison but Baughman said he changed the name somewhat.

Agents found that Harry, 12 years old, and his playmates had sent in breakfast cereal box tops which entitled them each to a deed for a square inch of land in Alaska.

Harry and his friends decided to band together, form their own country, and secede from the union.

Baughman said the boy got off with a "severe lecture" from his mother.

"He did not realize the seriousness of his threat against the President and when the possible consequences were explained to him, he replied 'I surrender, I am now a citizen again,'" Baughman said.

7-City Closed Circuit TV In Texas Slated

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 15 (UP) — Henry Griffing, president of Video Independent Theaters, announced Friday arrangements have been completed in seven cities in Oklahoma and Texas to show first-run Hollywood films in private homes via closed circuit television.

The cities include Lubbock, Tex., and Ponca City, Stillwater, Duncan, Norman, Shawnee and Bartlesville, Okla. The Bartlesville setup had been announced earlier.

Video, which operates a chain of more than 150 movie houses and drive-in theaters in the Southwest, announced the service will be available in Bartlesville within six months. Griffing said it would be from one to two years before the service, known as "Tele-Movie," would be ready in the other six cities.

"We eventually hope to blanket Oklahoma plus large portions of Texas and New Mexico with this service to movie fans," Griffing said.

Video has announced that the charge for a minimum of 13 first-run films per month will be $9.50 monthly. The program will be piped into each customer's television set via coaxial cable strung on telephone or power poles around each city. Newsreels and short subjects will be shown with the feature films continuously from noon until midnight daily.

Griffing said city governing agencies in the seven cities have approved the project.

M'Arthur In Japan; Mobs In Protests

TOKYO, Feb. 15 (UP) — More than 150 students shouting "Mac, Go Home!" met Douglas MacArthur II Friday night when he arrived in Tokyo to become U.S. ambassador to Japan.

The hostility toward the new envoy contrasted sharply with the arrival of his famous uncle, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, nearly 12 years ago. There were only a few Japanese officials on hand at that time to greet the general, who ruled Japan for nearly six years before he was relieved of his command by President Truman in 1951.

The new ambassador stepped off a plane at Tokyo's International Airport shortly before midnight to shouts of "Mac, Go Home!" and banners proclaiming: "Give us back Okinawa," and "Don't bring atom troops."

The demonstration was staged by more than 150 leftist-inclined students of the National Federation of Student Associations.

Although the group represents a small minority of Japanese public opinion, its shouts and banners dominated the observation ramp at the airport.

Representatives of patriotic groups also were present with banners and slogans praising America, but their welcome was so feeble it was hardly noticed.

More than 130 Japanese police ringed the area to keep the demonstration under control, and there was no violence. They arrested eight students but later released all but two, who they charged with obstructing traffic.

The anti-American demonstration pointed up some of the problems which face the 47-year-old ambassador. He arrived at a time the Japanese press was playing up two shooting incidents involving American troops and Japanese civilians, and Japanese Socialists have raised a cry that the United States is trying to make an "atom base" out of Japan.

Heart Chairman Named By State Head In Crossett

CROSSETT, Feb. 15 (Special) — Dr. Daniel Autrey, president of the Arkansas Heart Association, announced today that Mrs. Lawrence Edwards has been named chairman of the 1957 Heart Fund campaign in Crossett and Ashley county.

The purpose of the annual drive, Mrs. Edwards declared in accepting the appointment, is to support the association's research, lay and professional education and community service programs.

"More knowledge about the heart and blood vessel diseases has been gained through research in the past 30 years than in the preceding 30 centuries," Mrs. Edwards continued. "But we still do not know the exact mechanisms that cause hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and rheumatic fever, the three disorders that are responsible for 90 per cent of all heart disease. Progress in finding answers to these unknowns depends upon research which, in turn, depends upon your support."

Over 30 New Arrests Made In Hungary

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15 (UP) — Three Louisiana 4-H Poultry Club members, accompanied by Clyde Ingram and Miss Stella Jones, poultry specialists, LSU Agricultural Extension Service, are attending the annual fact-finding conference here.

The meeting is being sponsored by the American Poultry Industries, the Federal Extension Service, and the National Committee on boys and girls club work.

Club members are Edward Burleigh Jr., Plaquemine; Charles Arnold, Gretna; and Tommy Joe Malone, Farmerville. They were selected from among 10,000 poultry club members in Louisiana because of outstanding work with poultry, according to Ingram.

Some 25 states are represented at the conference. It lasts through Sunday.

A group of 13 awaiting trial at the little town of Nagykata, about 35 miles east of Budapest, was charged with destroying Communist party headquarters and the Soviet war memorial there.

The official MTI news agency reported a number of arrests not carried in the newspaper.

House Group Trims Budget Slightly In Friday Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP) — $364,000 off Mr. Eisenhower's request made scarcely a dent in President Eisenhower's $71.8 billion record peacetime budget Friday as it was approved the first regular spending bill of the new Congress. The committee trimmed $80.

Committee members previously had pledged to make substantial slashes in the budget. They explained almost sorrowfully that the first money bill did not offer a fair test because the agencies involved were not subject to much cutting.

The committee made minor cuts here and there. But in all major categories it voted more money than was provided for the current year. The total was $250,652,150 higher, with $101 million going for such things as government pay raises approved by Congress.

In a sign of the times, the committee provided an extra $2,873,000 for the office of U. S. treasurer. It said the extra money was for the "procurement and transportation" of currency because inflation had increased the demand for money.

The committee again expressed its alarm over the continued deficit in the Post Office Department. It renewed its proposal that postal rates be raised to levels "more appropriate to the costs."

The administration has told Congress that the postal deficit will rise to one billion dollars unless first class mail rates are raised from 3 to 5 cents as part of a general rate increase.

Louisiana Senator's

Statement Is Worthy

Louisiana's United States Senator Russell B. Long has issued one of the best statements to come out of Washington on the question of whether or not American officials should insult leaders of other countries who wish to visit Washington if those leaders hold views with which the American officials do not agree.

Senator Long's statement is so good, so different from some of the many ill-advised statements that have been made and sums up the situation so well that we think he deserves to be quoted.

Part of the Louisiana senator's statement is as follows:

"I received several letters urging me to protest to President Eisenhower in the event that he should decide to invite Marshal Tito, the President of Yugoslavia, to visit this country. I do not believe that I should do so.

"President Eisenhower is uniquely qualified to decide for himself whether it will advance the cause for American foreign policy by arranging a face to face conference with Marshal Tito. There are many problems involved here that go beyond the ability of most Americans and even most members of Congress to fully assess.

"I am one of those who have voted against military and economic aid to Yugoslavia during the last two years. Nevertheless, this nation has invested hundreds of millions of dollars in assisting Yugoslavia to maintain its independence. There are undoubtedly a great number of matters on which it would be helpful to have a better understanding between our two governments. I can think of a number of these myself and I am certain that the President and his advisers can think of many more.

"If Yugoslavia can be depended upon to guard its neutrality and prevent the use of its air space as the avenue of a surprise attack upon American air bases and Naval units in the Mediterranean area, that single item will remove a very formidable threat to the United States forces in the Mediterranean and to all our allies whom we are committed to assist in the event they are attacked.

"The issue in this case is not the question of our regard for Marshal Tito and the form of government which he maintains in Yugoslavia today. The issue is whether we wish to uphold the hand of the President in his efforts to make peace more secure and to save this nation and its people if war is forced upon us.

William Foster, chairman of the American communist party, is the leader of the pro-Stalin forces; Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the party, heads the pro-Khrushchev group, and John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker, is chief of the Tito followers. Those were the alignments in mid-February 1957.

President Eisenhower has explained that he wishes to consult with various heads of state, some of whom are not popular in America. The President has told us that he believes he can persuade some of these people to accord us a greater degree of cooperation if he is able to meet as of yesterday. Perhaps by tomorrow with them face to face. The President's they will be reshuffled again.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Charm Of Eisenhower And Dulles

Fails To Settle Mid-East Dispute

Little Wars Make Big Wars

The Middle Eastern problem does not settle down despite the wishes and desires of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. They apparently believed that they could, by charm of personality, bring an end to a conflict that has an historical basis and must become more tense as Egypt develops its hegemony over African Islamic countries.

The Arabs present a complex problem which is strange to the Western world. Were Arabia one nation, as France is a nation, it might have been possible to formulate a plan in which national responsibility could be a factor. But there is no such nation as Arabia. There are many nations in which the Arabs form a majority of the people, in which a dialect of Arabian is spoken and in which the Islamic civilization prevails. The Arabic language, it is estimated, is spoken by about 45 million people and its alphabet, in whole or modified, is employed in the Persian, Afghan, Urdu and some of the Turkish, Berber and Malayan languages.

Whereas Islam is a civilization and the Arabic language is used by all Arabs, a number of nations have evolved out of this people who emerged from the desert into the fertile lands, and into the Nile Valley and the Tigris-Euphrates area of fertility. The nations, in modern times, which have formed on the Crescent of Fertility and in the desert are Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Syria, Yemen, Lebanon and Israel; in addition to these there are a large number of sheikhdoms which are similar to European principalities. Neither Lebanon nor Israel ought to be included in this list but are for geographic reasons; on the other hand, Sudan, Libya, Algeria, Tunisia, Morocco and all the areas of North Africa and deep into the Sahara are basically a mixture of Arabic and all sorts of different peoples.

The Arabs are Semites and it is beyond doubt correct that aboriginal Arabs and aboriginal Hebrews were of identical origin. In Genesis, this origin is attributed to Abraham, whose sons Isaac and Ishmael are the progenitors of these two people. The probability is that the Babylonians, Assyrians, Chaldeans, Amorites, Aramaeans, Phoenicians, Hebrews, Arabs and Abyssinians were originally the same people and lived in the same area and differentiated as they moved out into new territory and intermarried with the natives. We do know from the Bible that Abraham, who is recorded as the father of both the Hebrews and the Arabs, originated in Ur of the Chaldees and was probably a Chaldean.

There are several theories as to the geographic origin of this people. It is believed that they originated either in Mesopotamia or the Arabian Peninsula; at any rate, they are found in both areas in very early times. The desert gets crowded because it can sustain life on any decent level for so few. And when the desert is crowded a political explosion occurs resulting in raids, wars and conquest. It was such an explosion which brought the Semitic and Hamitic peoples together and produced the Egyptians; it was a similar explosion that drove these Semitic nomads into Sumer and produced the Babylonians. These two peoples, the Egyptians and the Babylonians, gave mankind many of the arts. Similarly, the Phoenicians, the Hebrews and the Syrians were products of such mass migrations in an overpopulated desert, practical foundations of our culture—the concept of a monotheistic God and they gave to mankind the Five Books of Moses, the Prophets and the New Testament, wholly new sociology based on social justice and a morality, long in the making in both Egypt and Babylon. The evolution of this concept took centuries, but its origins are traceable.

It is out of this Arabian desert that small wars have been occurring for more than 4,000 years, wars of invasion, wars involving the re-peopling of large areas, wars of expansion. If we follow the influence of the Arabic language, we find it in the Indian Ocean as we find it on the shore of the Atlantic.

It is the characteristic of desert peoples to move where there is water and food. The Semitic stock is hardy in most of its manifestations and can take hardships in its stride. Even those Hebrews who live in Europe seem to have been able to stand more strain than most other peoples.

Nightmare In Moscow

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Fair Deal Is Still Alive In Matter Of Wage, Price, Material Controls

BY HOLMES ALEXANDER

WASHINGTON, D. C.—If Edgar Allan Poe's famous story "The Tell-tale Heart" can be rewritten a little, its modern version might go:

"In 1953 the new Administration bumped off the Fair Deal with its belief that a welfare state requires a controlled economy. The Administration sealed up the Fair Deal's body in an unused White House chimney and went its way of economic freedom from wage-price-rent-materials control. But

"In 1957 a strange thump-thump-thump was heard from the sealed-up chimney. Horrors! The Fair Deal is still alive. Listen to that Tell-tale Heart!"

You wouldn't expect the President to retell the story quite in those terms, but in his own words he has said approximately the same thing. How to tell the American people that the brakes aren't working on the runaway prosperity? How to get across the idea that the fuse of the high-tax, high-spending dynamite is sizzling? How to explain that welfare-for-everybody is not "free" but costs a barrel of money? How, in short,

"In 1953 the new Administration bumped off the Fair Deal with its belief that a welfare state requires a controlled economy. The Administration sealed up the Fair Deal, although walled away out of sight, had never left the White House and might soon reappear — ration books, frozen profits, fixed wages, planned construction and all?"

These formidable matters of how-to, I now told, were subtly set in motion some while ago. There was the "tight money" policy on borrowing. There was the Truman billions - for welfare

President's State of the Union message, addressed principally to the perils of inflation and cautioning Business and Labor to slow up on profits and wages. There was the recent warning at a White House press conference that price-wage controls were in the offing. And there is the unanimous Administration attitude of "Cut it if you can!" regarding the $72 billion budget with its welfare plums, for you and you and me.

The Administration, a would-be and self-accused assassin of the Fair Deal, appears to have gone through successive phases of mind. First, with the $10 billion cut in the Truman budget and a gratifying slice in taxes, came pride and pleasure in the deed. Then, as the Truman billions - for welfare commenced to be restored, there was the feeling that buried-alive socialism existed within a Republic of the Truman billions - for welfare and its consequences. Whatever will be, will be. That which cannot be altered, must be endured. Where economic controls are inevitable, relax and enjoy them.

This sort of fatalism is to be heard today by Administration apologists. They acknowledge that they are faced with a condition, not a theory of Government. They would prefer ideal solutions, but are forced to settle for realistic ones. An Ike-backing Senator with a good deal of inside knowledge summarizes the Administration like this:

1. Military defense, which comprises more than half the Federal budget, has been stabilized at around $38.5 billion. Had the Democrats, with their "crash" programs on air power, been in command, there is no telling where defense spendings would be. So give the Eisenhower Administration some credit for leveling off on this plateau. Without a fairly stable Pentagon budget, the Federal budget would be far above $72 billion.

2. American psychology for self-improvement is the true cause of personal and public spending. The people and their government have long been willing to go into debt to purchase better living conditions. In most cases the buy-on-credit plans have worked well, keeping the consumer and the manufacturer at full production. The spending and the borrowing by 1957 have admittedly soared too high, but it is too late to change that.

A deflation of the dollar would mean that debtors would have to repay their loans at higher rates. The Administration is doing the right thing by trying to prevent further inflation, first by an appeal for voluntary price - wage freezes; next, if necessary, by Government controls.

3. Communist aggression is an inflationary pressure that will be with us far past this present generation. The entire free world, not just the USA, must contribute money, materials and manpower to combat Communism. The Eisenhower Administration is trying in West Europe, in the Mideast and in Southeast Asia to get the native countries to build up their own military and economic defenses against the Reds. Free world cooperation offers the long-term hope that the USA can some day reduce its spending.

4. Yet the Catholic Church and many Protestants believe in Heaven as a physical place. Personally, I view it as similar to Earth, except on a more elevated plane.

Like 4-year-old Larry, whom I described Monday as not able to comprehend the logical deductions that were simple for his mother, so we human beings have difficulty even imagining what occurs in the next world.

But we may need to use a much faster medium than light or electricity waves, and that is thought.

In an instant of time you can project yourself, via imagination, upon a distant planet that might take 1,000 years for a light wave to get there.

Suppose, for example, you can project a thought beam anywhere in the Cosmic Universe and then figuratively travel on that thought beam in a split second.

At the other end you then recrystallize your personality, much as we now pick up the TV beams and reassemble them on our living room screen.

That may seem impossible to some of our present scientists. But it is no more incomprehensible to us than that "little bird" was to 4-year-old Larry who broke the gold fish bowl in Monday's Case Record.

And since the ether waves are employed for swift re-assembling of TV pictures, it is certainly analogous to believe that if we are to be in Heaven the instant we die here on Earth, then something faster than light must be the solution.

Jesus promised, "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there will I be in the midst of them," which suggests instantaneous travel.

And St. Paul stated (I Corinthians 13:12) "For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face; now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known."

I think God hears our prayers instantly, so something faster than ether waves must be the answer.

The figures released from the mayor's office showed a difference of $102,470 between the two administrations.

Howard said that since the president administration assumed office in mid-July, the city spent $1,062,638 in operating during the last six months of 1956.

Howard pointed out that $1,165,108 was spent during the first six months of 1957.

What's happening to the stock market?

Promulgated enough, ever since the re-election of President Eisenhower, the stock market has had a bad case of the jitters. Measured by the Dow-Jones averages, prices have now slumped below the 1956 lows and many gilt-edged stocks are way down from last year's high. There has been mounting worry in Wall Street about the 1957 trend of business: the squeeze on corporation profits resulting from rising costs of materials, money; the inclination of major investing institutions to sell stocks and shift to bonds. Some of the best-known professionals in Wall Street are definitely bearish (pessimistic), fear the stock market's performance is warning there's a bumpy business road ahead.

Does this mean the "tight money" policy is going to be abandoned?

No. So far, Federal Reserve Board officials maintain the lull we're seeing in business is only seasonal and the sort of letdown that often comes in dreary February. They figure forces soon will reassess themselves and if they ease up on credit now, they'll intensify price pressures. Federal Reserve authorities will shift policy fast if a pick-up doesn't come in the spring, but they're not shifting a cent.

What about the cost of living?

Monroe Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard yesterday announced that his administration has reduced operating expenses by $102,470 during the first six months in office.

Cotton Growers Organize To Fight 'Unrealistic' Policies

MEMPHIS, Feb. 15 (UP)—Mid-South Cotton Growers Association's executive committee, according to Hobson Vandiver, manager of the organization, "to fight the unrealistic policies which threaten to throw the economy of the entire cotton belt into reverse gear." Announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that cotton prices would be supported at 77 per cent of parity, a reduction of five and one-half percentage points, brought immediate reactions from present agri-men that's a part of the world's cultural policies. You simply can't dry up the Main streets of the rural south without hurting the economy to the facts of life apparently hasn't sunk in too well."

"It must be recognized," he continued, "that farmers aren't like us—automobile makers and steel men-in $2 annual memberships from manufacturers—they can't cut their organization's producers 'and production overnight to take up are giving consideration to ex-

price slacks. Anyone who has done planning committee membership to any thinking knows that farming entire cotton growing area of price supports are here to stay—the nation."

Long Appoints Advisory Board For Hospital

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15 (UP)—Gov. Earl Long announced today that he has appointed an advisory board for Lake Charles Charity Hospital, presently in the planning stage.

The board will assist in securing land, work with the architects, and Jesse Bankston, state director of the hospital.

Members of the board are: George M. King Jr., Kinder, Allen parish; Herman Stewart, DeRidder, Beauregard parish; C. Harold Richard, Dr. Frank H. Marek, Fred C. Martin, Dr. Carley Bordelon, and Luther Hall, Calcasieu parish; John Trecht, Sweetlake, Cameron parish; and Jack Garrett, Jennings, Jefferson Davis parish.

(3) A realistic study of the Soil

Bank and its effects on agriculture, Southern farm and small town economy and the general welfare of the nation's farmers and consumers.

(4) An examination of basic packaging and sampling practices.

"We are deeply concerned," said Vandiver, "over the economy of the small southern towns and cities."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP)—Conflict of interest is the term used by congressional investigators to congressional investigations of a Senate inquiry into his relations with a Ross family firm which holds several millions of dollars worth of defense contracts.

Ross said he was resigning because it would be "unfair" to the Defense Department to stay in view of what he called "derogatory implications."

When a government official maintains an outside business connection which could be favored or hurt by his official actions, the basis for a congressional conflict of interest investigation is present.

It does not necessarily follow that the official would or would not shape his official acts to favor his private business.

How About Congressmen?

These congressional investigations come along often. It is a matter of astonishment that some bedeviled official in the witness chair has not long since sought to turn the conflict of interest searchlight on his congressional investigators.

Consider the lawyers, for example. Lawyers far outnumber members of other professions in Congress.

How much conflict of interest would there be in the situation of a senator or congressman whose law firm had substantial corporate patronage and who had to cast his vote on a question which directly would effect the profits of one or more corporate clients?

Cotton Growers Organize To Fight 'Unrealistic' Policies

MEMPHIS, Feb. 15 (UP)—Mid-South Cotton Growers Association's 87,000 members are being organized into an area-wide Cotton Price Committee, according to Hobson Vandiver, manager of the organization, "to fight the unrealistic policies which threaten to throw the economy of the entire cotton belt into reverse gear."

Announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that cotton prices would be supported at 77 per cent of parity, a reduction of five and one-half percentage points, brought immediate reaction from the cotton growers group as it did from southern congressmen and senators.

"This is a shocking development," said Vandiver, "since it places commodity considerations above the welfare of thousands of farmers who through no fault of their own have been tied to one crop and who for 20 years have been making difficult adjustments."

Vandiver said the directors' executive committee of the Mid-South Cotton Growers Association with general offices at 44 South Front street, Memphis, had authorized him to bring "all possible pressure" to bear to help get the loan level for cotton up to 90 per cent of parity for 1957 and to help devise a long range cotton program designed to "protect growers, sellers, processors and marketers as well as consumers, while at the same time preserving our export market."

The executive committee also went on record as favoring:

- (1) Retention of the present loan base of Middling 7/8-inch staple.
- (2) Allowances for full values of split grades, commonly called "brights," also giving full value to light spotted or light gray cottons.
- (3) A realistic study of the Soil Bank and its effects on agriculture, Southern farm and small town economy and the general welfare of the nation's farmers and consumers.
- (4) An examination of bale packaging and sampling practices.

Methods And Materials Of Modern Dance To Be Shown

Methods and materials employed successfully in teaching elementary rhythms will be emphasized at today's session of the State Dance Symposium which opened Friday at Northeast State. The workshop is being directed by Miss Gertrude Myers, of the Northeast faculty and state dance chairman.

This morning's meeting is scheduled to open at 8:30 in the college gymnasium. It is available to persons of all ages without cost, Miss Myers announced.

Special consultant for today's conference will be Miss Mary Ella Montague, associate professor of health and physical education for women at Sam Houston State College.

All phases of the session will be directed mainly toward present and future elementary teachers, with practicability as the keynote of the program.

Friday's workshop was devoted to the modern dance, with Dr. Colleen Bennett, of Northwestern State College, and Miss Carolyn Colvin, of Louisiana State University, serving as consultants.

Students and instructors from four state colleges and Louisiana State University participated in the first day's session. The schools included besides LSU, Northwestern State, Northeast State, Southeastern Louisiana College, and Louisiana Tech. Other school personnel from this area attended the meeting.

The program was designed to stimulate interest in modern dance throughout Louisiana. New ideas and techniques were underscored for persons already acquainted with this type of dancing.

Techniques were discussed and illustrated for beginning dancers, for intermediate and advanced groups. Last phase of the afternoon conference was the presentation of compositions by groups. Students from Northeast State demonstrated various qualities of movements, a dance group from Louisiana State University gave two dances, and students from other colleges actively participated in the demonstrations.

Judge Suspends 6-Months Term For Imposter

AUGUSTA, Maine, Feb. 15 (UPI)

Imposter Ferdinand W. Demara Jr. today won judicial leniency for his latest impersonation—that of a college-trained high school teacher.

Demara, found teaching in a 40-pupil high school on North Haven Island, was given a suspended six months' jail sentence and put on probation for two years.

The 35-year-old Lawrence, Mass., native, who never went beyond high school, pleaded guilty before Superior Court Justice Armand A. Dufresse Jr., to cheating by claiming a college degree in obtaining a state teacher's license.

One of Demara's impersonations won him worldwide notoriety. Using the name of a New Brunswick physician, he joined the Canadian navy during the Korean War and performed considerable surgery before he was unmasked. His medical education was fragmentary.

After his court appearance, Demara told newsmen he would leave tonight to visit his mother in Lawrence, Mass., where he was born.

He said he wouldn't return to the community where he had been the best suspect, "even though he has been released on bond since last fall.

Dr. Ben Oliphant, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church, was the principal speaker Friday night at Temple B'nai Israel, it is announced by Rabbi Jacob Lantz.

His address was in connection with Brotherhood Week, which has been observed by many churches nationwide.

Dr. Sorum was called to the stand while Means was testifying.

Under questioning by Arens, he said he had known Means previously as a member of the Communist Party.

He said he had discussed Communist objectives several times with Means, but couldn't recall whether he had ever attended a Communist meeting with him.

Dr. Sorum said he was convinced Means was not a Communist now.

He also suggested that Means cooperated with the subcommittee.

When asked whether he would answer the subcommittee's questions if given a "downright grant of immunity," Means replied:

"I don't distrust the chairman or any other members of the committee. But I want to protect my family and my standing in the community."

Dr. Sorum gave the committee names of persons he had known while he was a Communist and reviewed his activities with the party.

He said his first mass activity with the party was in connection with the New Orleans Youth Council. The leadership of the council was controlled by the party, he said, but very few members were Communists.

He testified that during 1946-48 the Communist membership in New Orleans at its peak level reached 230.

He listed the Southern Negro Youth Congress and the Southern Conference for Human Welfare as Communist-controlled groups. But most of the members of the welfare conference, he said, were not Communists.

Several years ago, before he broke with the Communist Party, he was sent to Jackson by a Sam Hall to help in the Willie McGee case. McGee was a Negro executed in Mississippi for the rape of a white woman.

Dr. Sorum said the Communists were fighting in behalf of McGee under the guise of the Civil Rights Congress.

While in Jackson, he said, one party member asked him to help persuade Negroes to start praying in the streets for McGee. Dr. Sorum said he refused because he realized he would be arrested by police.

He said he started his break from the Communists before he finished school. Party members tried to persuade him to drop psychiatry and do medical work in behalf of the party.

Later, when party members began to note his lack of interest, he was treated as an outcast, Dr. Sorum said. That was sometime in 1951, he said.

Before the party began to go underground, Dr. Sorum said, members were urged to join religious groups, particularly Protestant sects.

He said party leaders felt if they became active in church affairs, it would help them in case they were arrested.

Eugene, a key witness in the trial last year of the late Andrew Steve Nelson, testified that during his last four years as a Communist he served as an undercover agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Nelson died while under conviction for falsely stating on an affidavit that he was not a Communist. He was president of the New Orleans local of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union at the time he signed the affidavit.

Both Nelson and the longshoremen's union were mentioned several times today.

Two other witnesses, Lee Brown and Theodore Means, refused to answer committee counsel Richard Arens' questions as to whether they had ever been Communists.

Brown, a Negro and vice-president of the local ILWU, refused to answer any questions after he gave his name. He shouted several times that he wouldn't answer any questions until he was given a chance to make a statement. Willis refused.

After Brown declined to answer more than 50 questions by Arens, Willis ordered marshals to escort him from the room.

Rep. Kearney (R-NY) called Brown one of the most "defiant and arrogant witnesses ever to appear before this committee." Both Kearney and Willis said they would recommend to the full committee that Brown be cited for contempt.

Theodore Means, a New Orleans mechanic, invoked the fifth amendment when asked whether he had ever been a Communist.

He told the subcommittee he was not a Communist now and had not been one in the four years that he had been employed at the Kaiser Aluminum plant at nearby Chalmette. But, he said, the committee shouldn't construe that to mean that he had ever been a Communist.

Willis offered Means immunity, but he still declined to say whether he had been a Communist or known any. He said it was "quite possible" that he had known some.

Just at this juncture the paperhanger became ill and General Washington decided to do the job himself. As many a guest has done in later years, Lafayette joined in and lent aid while Mrs. Washington from the sidelines supervised.

A five-year-old Iowa farm boy has been named for the Easter Seal child for 1957. The left leg of the little fellow is paralyzed. He is Walter (Bill) Cash and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Cash of Clear Lake, Iowa. He was named after a search had been made in many states for the one to represent the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults.

Bill was stricken with polio when two years of age and one leg is helpless and the other is a weak member. Through aid at the Easter Seal Center at the Herbert Hoover School in Mason City, Iowa, he learned to walk with crutches and a brace. Doctors predict he will outgrow the crutches but not the brace.

He will visit the White House to meet the Eisenhowers and to participate in opening ceremonies. The drive is to open March 15 and ends April 21.

Dr. W. R. Hammond, of the Northeast college staff, and a friend were discussing how changing times have affected colleges and universities. They discussed how many years ago colleges like Yale, Harvard, and West Point instantly produced a student who dared to marry in his undergraduate years.

"Now," declared Dr. Hammond, "I venture to say that forty percent of my students are married."

Also another change has come with the years. Smoking was formerly banned in college class rooms. Today many professors lecture between puffs at a cigaret and pupils taking cue from their instructors, follow suit.

After five long weary weeks of rehearsal, the Little Theatre on Friday presented "Stalag 17" and the large and enthusiastic audience gave full approval of this strictly modern show which many more will witness the next few nights.

"Stalag" is fortunate in its selection of a crew that is thoroughly capable and would be hard to beat in the Twin Cities. They are as follows: Joanne Genuing, Aubrey McKeithen, Anna Stokes, Del Moore, Teeny Adams, Jane Gordon, Marie Dell Horuff, Dot Elmdendorf and Jim Phillips.

Gold Star Mothers, a group contained in the Auxiliary of the L. B. Faulk American Legion post, on Thursday held their annual dinner at La Casa tea room. Tables were artistically decorated in patriotic manner with many small flags and of course a profusion of seasonal flowers in which camellias predominated.

Two officers of the group, Mrs. W. R. Cunningham, and Mrs. Vivian Benison, were shown in a picture taken by a News-Star World photographer.

Judge Refuses To Make Ruling

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Feb. 15 (UPI)

—A Scottish judge refused today to rule whether an American woman could be accused of committing adultery for having a baby by artificial insemination.

Lord Wheatley, presiding in court, said the case of Ronald George MacLennan of Glasgow vs. Mrs. MacLennan might introduce, in effect, a new ground of divorce.

He referred the case to the lord advocate, Scotland's highest legal authority, for a ruling, saying an important question of law was involved.

MacLennan introduced letters indicating that his wife, whose address was given as Brooklyn, N.Y., had a child "conceived as a result of artificial insemination."

Mrs. MacLennan did not contest the suit. She said in Brooklyn she had no comment.

A balanced fertilizer is needed for vegetables, Joyce continued, but general recommendations are difficult to give. "Fast growing plants need more fertilizer than beef for hamburgers ground others, but special recommendations are difficult just once."

Brownell said that Ervin, in expressing fears about what might happen under the injunction plan, was in this position:

"What it comes down to, Senator is that you, an ex-judge, do not have confidence in the judicial system of this country. I'm amazed that you take this position."

Ervin replied: "What it comes down to is that I consider the right of indictment, of trial by jury and cross-examination of witnesses so scared that I never want them taken away from any individual."

Ervin said he feared "a politically minded attorney general" could use the proposed legislation "to intimidate election officials and other subcommittee members throughout the United States."

After a 2½-hour morning session Brownell was excused until tomorrow. Ervin said he had a lot more questions to ask.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.), the subcommittee chairman, said he would move at a closed session Monday to start night sessions in an effort to get a bill to the Senate floor.

District 4-B Finals Slated For Pioneer

PIONEER, La., Feb. 15 (Special) — Both Epps High School teams, plus the Holly Ridge boys and the Mangham girls, tonight were paired for the finals of the district 4-B championship basketball tournament here.

The Holly Ridge Eagles advanced tonight with a 65-40 win over Kilbourne as Futch and Dooly led the way with 30 and 21 points respectively. Harper, with 20, and Miley, with 14, were high scorers for Kilbourne.

The Epps sextet advanced tonight with a last second basket that nipped Pioneer, 34-32. Gwin and Tanner, with 17 and 13 respectively, sparked Epps, but Gardner of Pioneer was the game's high scorer with 19 points.

In games last night the Mangham girls, defending state champions, defeated Kilbourne, 62-24, and the Epps boys advanced over Pioneer, 59-41. Arrant's 17 points, led the Mangham girls with Smith, sparkling Kilbourne with 17. Ball, Newton, and Thrower collected 10-12 respectively in leading the Epps quint, while Blackman of Pioneer was high score of the game with 28.

Saturday's title finals send the Mangham and Epps boys tangle in their final at 8:15 o'clock.

Dark, Kretlow Lead Golfers, Mick Gallery

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15 (UPI) — Lou Kretlow, the defending champion and Alvin Dark, last year's runner-up, shot the best golf today in the National Baseball Players' Golf Tournament — but the gallery stuck with slugger Mickey Mantle, who used an electric car between holes because his old knee injury is bothering him.

Mantle, who recently signed a New York Yankee contract for a reported $60,000, has been having trouble with the knee for the past two or three days. It was reportedly swollen almost twice its normal size yesterday but the swelling had subsided somewhat today.

The Yankee outfield batting champion has been bothered periodically by osteomyelitis, a bone infection, in the right knee for several years.

Mickey, who shot a 48-48-96, said he intended to stick in the tournament through the Sunday finale.

Kretlow, Kansas City pitcher and Dark, St. Louis infielder, both fired 5-over-par 75s in the medal competition. They matched cards for the medalist prize and pairing berth and Kretlow won with a birdie-three to Dark's par-four on the first hole.

Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox and runner-up to Dark two years ago, was third with a 37-40-77.

Billy Herman, a Brooklyn Dodger coach, was fourth with an 82, one shot under Bobby Morgan, Philadelphia infielder. Jackie Robinson, who retired from the Dodgers recently, Earl Torgeson of Detroit and Don Newcombe of the Dodgers each fired an 86.

Both Kretlow and Dark missed an opportunity to win uncontested medal honors when each bogied the 18th hole.

Competition today and Sunday will be at match play.

as requested unanimously by the boys on the squad.

Neither the salary nor the length of Sinko's contract was disclosed. This followed a university policy.

His selection, athletic director Vic Stout explained, followed "normal channels," screenings of "several capable" candidates by a faculty committee and trustees, and approval of the president, Dr. Harold C. Case.

Sinko succeeds his mentor, Buff Donelli, now head coach at Columbia. He said his offense will be somewhat similar to the winged-T Donelli used.

Basically a "T" with variations and patterns depending upon the skill of the boys," he said.

Sinko, who began his football playing in high school in his native Chalmers, Minn., hopes to be able to field two teams next fall. "Naturally, they won't be of equal strength," he said. "We have been trying for 10 years to do it but never quite had the boys."

"If we hold what we have we'll be better off than we have been for a long while."

He added that the freshman squad is "good, one of the best we've had" and said their marks held up well in the first semester.

Sinko said B.U. has a custom of excusing any freshman from any practice "if he has work [study] to do that comes first — all the boy has to do is call up and explain."

Looking ahead to next season Sinks said the squad is scheduled for the N.C.A.A.-allowed 20 days of spring drill in April.

He described next fall's schedule as a "good, challenging one, rough, but with better placement of opponents."

The Terriers open Sept. 28 against Massachusetts, then play Syracuse, West Virginia, Bucknell, Holy Cross, George Washington, Boston College and Connecticut.

Sinko and Stout said another game is possible but not probable.

Larry Vincour, a guard from New Rochelle, N.Y., and Jackie Regan, an end from Medford, Mass., who are next year's co-captains, told of asking university officials to name Sinko as Donelli's successor.

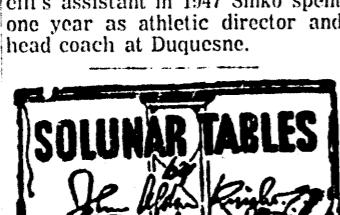

"The fellows respect him. He's a good leader and he knows what he's doing," they said in answer to questions.

Sinko played tackle in the 30's at Duquesne where he was graduated in 1934.

The next five years he played professionally with the Boston Redskins in the National Football League and the Los Angeles Bulldogs, the west coast's first pro eleven. He returned to coach Duquesne's line in 1939.

The next two years he coached both the Duquesne and Pittsburgh Steelers lines and during the war he spent 35 months in the navy's V-5 physical fitness program, coaching as an assistant at Iowa Pre-Fight in 1944.

Before coming to B.U. as Donelli's assistant in 1947 Sinko spent one year as athletic director and head coach at Duquesne.

Regatta Barred To Huskies

NEWARK, N.J., Feb. 15 (UPI) — The University of Washington crews, long a power in college rowing, have been barred from the National Intercollegiate Regatta for two years as a result of a suspension by the N.C.A.A. it was disclosed today.

The action by the International Rowing Association was first revealed by a Syracuse, N.Y., newspaper and later confirmed by Asa Bushnell, secretary of the I.R.A. council taken last Aug. 20 in Denver, Colo.

The council, which is the punitive arm of the N.C.A.A., reported on football recruiting abuses by the University of Washington and placed the institution on probation until Aug. 21, 1958.

The council's report, recorded in the minutes of the N.C.A.A. convention at St. Louis last month said:

"Be it further resolved that during the period of probation that the University of Washington shall not be eligible to enter athletes or teams in national collegiate championship competition and the inter-collegiate and like events which cooperate with the N.C.A.A. in the administration of its enforcement program."

Bushnell said the I.R.A. is one of the several organizations with which the N.C.A.A. has a cooperative arrangement.

"This is not a direct action by the I.R.A., nor is it something new," Bushnell said. "It is merely a case of this organization co-operating with the N.C.A.A."

Originally it was reported that a similar request had been received from the Pacific Coast Conference.

But Victor Schmidt, the Pacific Coast Conference commissioner, said his group had placed no sanctions on the University of Washington. Bushnell also said the I.R.A.'s action stemmed strictly from the disciplinary measures of the N.C.A.A., with the coast conference not involved.

The I.R.A., along with some dozen other organizations, were notified last November of the N.C.A.A. action.

"Our barring Washington from the intercollegiate regatta became automatic according to our cooperation agreement with the N.C.A.A.," Bushnell said.

Meanwhile, Al Ulbrickson, Washington crew coach, called the ban "unjustifiable."

The N.C.A.A. headquarters in Kansas City confirmed it had cooperative agreements with sponsors of 27 events. Under this arrangement, officials of certain events agree not to accept individuals or teams ruled ineligible for participation in N.C.A.A. events, of which there are 14.

Washington has been entering the regatta since 1913 and has been a top ten team for many years.

Raymond Downs of Texas, who could argue for the Longhorns that accuracy doesn't count, is the leader in free throw percentage with .805 followed by Larry Shatto of SMU with .800.

The top 10 in the statistics through games of Feb. 12, is rounded out by Ken Ilutto of A and M, Kenneth King of TCU, Herrschers of SMU, Bobby Mills of SMU, Gerry Thomas of Rice, Jim Krebs of SMU, Ned Duncan of SMU and Jerry Mallett of Baylor.

But if overall team accuracy, and not the final score, determined the standings, Texas would be first.

In 19 games to date, the Longhorns as a team have a .448 average on field goal attempts and in free throws, tops in the conference in both departments.

Yet the Steers have won nine and lost 10 of those 19 games.

Downs also leads in field goal percentage for the full season with .531. But he is third in conference games, topped by teammate Kermit Decker with .535 and Ed Franklin of Baylor with .508.

Jerry Mallett of Baylor is the leading rebounder, averaging 14.6 balls off the boards per conference game. Next is Jim Krebs with a 13.5 average, followed by Ronnie Stevenson of TCU with 13.1.

Twenty-one players are averaging in double figures in the conference scoring race. The top three are Krebs with 21.5 points per game, Downs, 19.3 and Mallett 18.2.

Kids' Baseball Clinic Opens

Two Sessions Slated Today At Ball Park

Boys of all ages are invited to Legion Memorial Stadium here today as guests of the North Monroe Lions Club for the fourth annual Twin City Kids Baseball Clinic with professional baseball personalities serving as instructors for the two-day event.

Wayne Causey of the Baltimore Orioles, Art "Little Red" Swanson of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Billy Hardy of the Boston Red Sox system, all products of Monroe high school and American Legion Junior baseball, are due to be on hand to serve as "professors" of diamond lore, along with other figures of the sport.

Billy Muffett, who used to pitch for the Monroe Sports but will be wearing the uniform of the St. Louis Cardinals this year, yesterday notified Jack Herron, Lions Club chairman, that he will be able to attend along with Mel McGaha, manager of the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League. Muffett pitched for Shreveport after leaving Monroe and was with Houston, Tex., last year.

Joe Adcock, the Milwaukee Braves star, who was prominent figure at the three previous clinics, won't be able to make this one as expected. He's reported 20 pounds overweight and already on the training camp scene for early work with the Cards.

Matt Batts, who caught for the Cincinnati Redlegs last year, was among yesterday's early arrival along with Walker Cross, formerly of the Reds; Mel Didier, scout for the Detroit Tigers; Tony Johns, the Brooklyn scout; Johnny Fetzer, formerly of the Braves; Mal Landry of the New York Giants.

Others expected to participate include Ed Head, manager of the last three years of the now disbanded Monroe Sports; Bob Carter the Monroe athlete who was formally in the Dodger system; Atley Donald, Yankee scout; Harry Kraft, Kansas City coach; Harry Strohm, scout for the Athletics; Gerald Didier of the Dodger system; and Ted Lyons, one-time Chicago star and Hall of Famer.

Redskin Quint Drops Wildcats, 80-76

Indians' Win

By LEMMIE HIGHTOWER

The Northeast Louisiana State Indians shattered their three-game losing streak here last night by dropping the Louisiana College Wildcats, 80-76, before a sparse crowd that saw the two teams exchange turns at getting red hot.

Bad weather and Northeast's annual military ball took a big bite out of the usual turn-out of cage patrons but the Indian quint seemed to be little affected, taking a lead from the start and falling behind only one time thereafter.

But the Redskins found themselves tied with the visitors a total of five times throughout the evening as first one club then the other improved on accuracy. The usual pattern was for the Northeast crew to move out front with a blistering attack that fizzled when the Wildcats began to find the hoop range again. The 'Cats would then pull into a tie but fail to go ahead as the Redmen got hot just in the nick of time.

The visitors moved out front, 27-26, with 5:40 left in the first half. Northeast regained the advantage when John Freeman connected with a field goal only seconds before the half for a 43-41 score. The reading stood at the midway point.

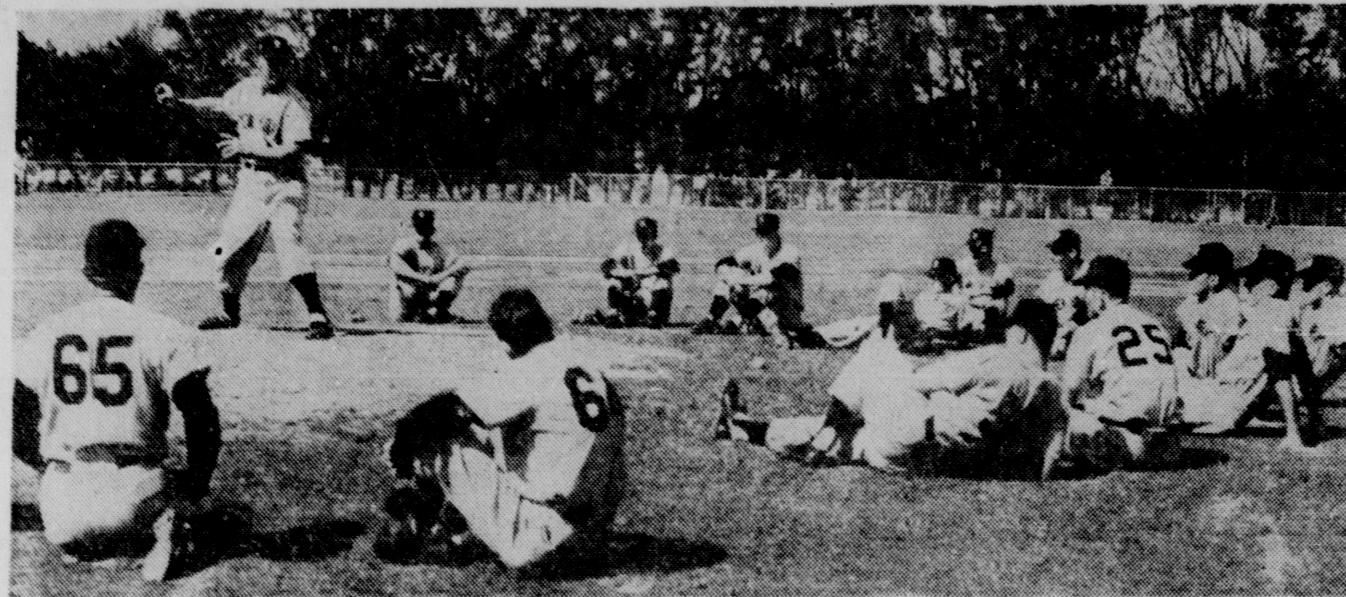

The Tribe hit the basket fast and hard in opening the second half to take a 49-41 margin only two minutes deep in the segment. True to the established routine, LaCollege got just as fast and just as accurate to jump to a 51-51 tie two minutes later. The score was tied again a 55-55 but from there Northeast was the master, repelling a last-minute effort by Jones.

With 33 seconds left to play, the Cats had pushed to 78-76. Gene Mathis and Lloyd Crocker collected a free throw each in the following seconds for Indian insurance.

Crocker led the Northeast quint in the scoring column with 19 points. Forward Joe Limbaugh topped the Wildcats with 16 tallies.

Plan New Pro Grid League

BALTIMORE, Feb. 15 (AP) — They shouldn't form another league.

Baltimore sportsmen today invited que. We welcome competitive bid-representatives from 16 major college football players. We have to bid cities in the east, south and mid-west to meet Feb. 24 and organize a new professional football league that would invade the territory of four National League cities.

In Cincinnati Mayor Taft said he hadn't received the letter but would give it "full study and consideration." Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, thought pro football would be a success, and added that Crosley Field would be available "if we could arrive at a fair agreement."

Milwaukee Mayor Zeidler said he would have to sound out local sentiment on bringing another professional team into the area, and that he would have to determine the effect on the Green Bay Packers.

It was accuracy of the Statesmen from the free throw line that spelled the difference. The Mississippians were successful on 30 of 43 charity tosses, while the Aggies could make good on only 13 of 24 attempts.

Despite a decided advantage in height, the visitors grabbed only one more rebound than the Aggies.

IOWA TACKLE OPERATED ON IOWA CITY, Iowa, Feb. 15 (UP) — Dick Klein, a tackle on Iowa's Rose Bowl champion football team, Friday underwent a knee operation. He is expected to be ready for spring practice.

Maroons Drop Tampa's Quint In 113-87 Tilt TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP) — Jim Ashmore and Bailey Howell, the one - two punch of Mississippi State, accounted for 69 points as the Maroons rolled over the University of Tampa basketball team 113-87 tonight.

"There is plenty of talent around every year" to supply another league.

National League officials will dispute that. Each team drafts 30 college players every year, and considers itself lucky if an average of three to five of them make the pro squad the following

Statesmen Pass Arkansas Rival By 86-73 Count

MONTICELLO, Ark., Feb. 15 (AP) — Led by Don Smith, ace scorer and rebounder, Delta State College of Cleveland, Miss., defeated Arkansas A&M 86-73 here tonight.

The 6-foot-6 Smith scored 29 points to pace the pointmakers of both teams. The Aggies shared the scoring fairly evenly with Jackie Jordan, Lyle Reynolds and Harold Mobeal tallying 12 points each.

Michigan Decides On Interracial Tilt ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 15 (AP) — Brown and Edwards are Negroes. The University of Michigan told tonight said it will play its scheduled football game with the University of Georgia this fall because it is convinced it will help improve racial relations in the United States.

Three Michigan state legislators had demanded that the game be cancelled because Georgia's athletic teams bar Negroes and bar competition within Georgia against teams using Negroes.

The game will be played in Michigan's 100,000-seat stadium in Ann Arbor on Oct. 5. Michigan's athletic teams usually have several Negroes.

"On the contrary, we are convinced that the playing will make an affirmative contribution toward the betterment of racial relations in the United States.

"We consider it educationally sound to bring young citizens of a southern state to Michigan to play in an athletic contest with our teams in which Negro and white players are accorded positions on the basis of merit alone and without regard to race and religion."

TONIGHT'S DECISION came from the board in control of intercollegiate athletics at the university.

Williams Heads Texas Open

Better Known Golfers Stay In Contention

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 15 (UPI)—Henry Williams Jr., a regular visitor on the winter tour but window, slipped into a one-stroke lead in the $20,000 Texas Open golf tournament Friday with a 36-hole total of 134.

For the second straight day, Williams, a club pro at Reading, Pa., shot a steady four-under-par 67 in rather unspectacular fashion on the par 36-35-71 Brackenridge Park links.

Three short putts of less than variety gave Williams five birdies to offset his one bogey, taken when he flubbed a short pitch shot on the 350-yard sixth hole. His card showed a 34-33.

One stroke out of first place were two more veterans, Jimmy Demaret and Johnny Palmer plus the fiery-tempered Billy Maxwell, each with 135.

Demaret and Palmer added 69s to go with their opening 66s. Maxwell had a 67-68—and a costly 68 it is. After knocking his tee shot out of bounds on the fourth hole, the 27-year-old former national amateur champion blew his top when he found an unplayable lie on the 13th fairway.

Maxwell was assessed a $100 fine by Harvey Raynor, PGA tournament director, for profanity within earshot of spectators.

There was plenty of profanity of a muffled variety elsewhere as hard-packed greens and uncertain putting surfaces caused an unusual number of three-putt greens and above-par scores.

Joe Black, the opening-day sensation from Abilene, Tex., was 10 strokes above his opening round with 64-74—138. Ed Furgol and Bob Kay, who had been in second place, skied also, Kay taking a 74 and Furgol a 71 when he three-putted three times.

Furgol skidded into a tie with Arnold Palmer, who has a pair of 68s for a 136, and Dr. Cary Middlecoff who fired a 69 Friday.

In team scoring, West Virginia Tech continues far ahead of runner-up Tennessee State. Tech has an average of 165 points a game to State's 90.9 and virtually is assured of a third straight team offensive title.

Defensively, Stephen F. Austin (Tex.) retained its leads with a 56.1 points to 35.4 for the 5-6 Vieira, one of the smallest players in college basketball.

N.C.A.A. service bureau statistics for games through Feb. 9, released today, show Hammond has 721 points in 20 games on 252 field goals and 217 free throws. Vieira has 460 points in 13 games on 150 field goals and 160 charity tosses.

Hammond now has an average of 36.1 points to 35.4 for the 5-6 Vieira, one of the smallest players in college basketball.

Following Vieira are Jack Sullivan of Mt. St. Mary's (Md.) third with a 32.4 average; Joe Miller of Alderson-Broaddus (W. Va.) fourth at 32.0 and Joe Wallace of Kings (Pa.) fifth at 31.1.

Miller, the leader in actual points scored with 765 in 24 games, retained his lead in field goal percentage at .634. He has made 241

Cubs Sign Rookies For Farm System

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs today announced the signing of shortstop Anthony Christopher, 18, a recent graduate of Wells High School in Chicago, for the Midwest League.

The Cubs also signed Robert Wilson of Lenoir, N.C., a right-hand pitcher, to a contract with Ponca City of the Sooner State League.

The mile and an eighth race shaped up as a contest between two aging mares and two youthful contenders. King's Mistake shares top weight of 122 pounds with six-year-old Mary Macree. The two youngsters in the field expected to be in the thick of the race are Triple Jay and Micc Todd.

Also expected to receive strong support is the Willie Molter entry of Our Belters, defending champion in the Santa Margarita, Solid Rae, equally weighted at 118 pounds.

The rest of the field for the race is made up of Noors Queen, Nooran, Gun Fly, En Casserole, Noordown, Candy Dish, Summer Story and Michaels Angel.

Held, who is expected to be given a shot at the Yanks' left field job, hit only .276 but showed good power with 35 homers and 125 runs batted in.

Should all 14 go to the post, the race will gross $48,700 with the winner netting $35,600.

Wife Of Wildcat Cager Reported Seriously Ill

MACON, Ga., Feb. 16 (UPI)—Mrs. Billie Beck, wife of Ed Beck, star center of the University of Kentucky basketball team, was reported in serious condition today at Macon Hospital where she has been confined for several days. Her condition had been listed as "fair" prior to today's report. She entered the hospital last week suffering from cancer.

Beck, former star at Ft. Valley High School, is at his wife's bedside. She had visited Atlanta recently to see her husband play against Georgia Tech but returned here and was hospitalized shortly afterward.

Until her condition worsened and Beck returned to Macon, the 20-year-old basketball star had "commuted" between Macon and cities where the Kentucky team was playing.

Schmidt Makes Card Comeback Shy 20 Pounds

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 15 (UPI)—Willard Schmidt, trying to make a comeback with the St. Louis Cardinals after a disappointing 1956 season, said today he thinks he can make the club a starting pitcher.

The Oklahoma righthander, one of the few established players at the Cardinals early spring training camp, reported for duty at a trim 181 pounds, exactly 20 pounds under a year ago. "I didn't get in shape last year until late in June," he said.

"This winter I watched my diet and scrimmaged with a high school team at Norman and now feel strong."

Schmidt won six and lost eight for the Red Birds last season, when he was bothered by a sore arm and an intestinal disorder. His last six appearances were in relief.

"The settlement we make with Mr. Louis is going to be just as fair as we can make it, both from his standpoint and ours," Harrington told the subcommittee.

"We are not interested in putting him in the poorhouse. We want to see him have a chance to make a living for the rest of his life. And we want to get as much money in the process for the colt was not fully extended.

Patterson Under Tax Watch

By VINCENT BURKE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UPI)—The government is keeping a careful check on heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson's tax returns to make sure he doesn't run into the trouble that has plagued ex-champ Joe Louis. It was disclosed Friday.

In testimony released by a House Appropriations subcommittee, Internal Revenue officials said the entire problem of prize fighters and others who have brief periods of high income is under study.

These officials promised that Louis, who retired with a $1.25 million tax bill hanging over his head, will get a "square deal" in the compromise settlement now under negotiation.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell C. Harrington said Patterson's tax returns will be checked promptly so that he will have an opportunity to pay any additional taxes due before his fighting career and his big-money days are over.

Louis has been struggling for several years to square himself with the tax collector on income he took in as a prime gate attraction. Without his heavyweight crown, he has trouble earning what he used to pay—or should have paid—in taxes.

Louis' attorney has made three offers of a compromise settlement. All have been rejected. A fourth compromise offer is understood to be under negotiation in Chicago.

Subcommittee member Alfred D. Sieminski (D-N.J.), who sponsored a bill a year ago to give Louis tax relief, suggested some form of "write-off" plan for boxers. Sieminski said corporations can get some tax credit for depreciation, but a prizefighter cannot.

"Yet, he wears out sooner than a factory," Sieminski said.

"The settlement we make with Mr. Louis is going to be just as fair as we can make it, both from his standpoint and ours," Harrington told the subcommittee.

"We are not interested in putting him in the poorhouse. We want to see him have a chance to make a living for the rest of his life. And we want to get as much money in the process for the colt was not fully extended.

Dianne Favored In 9-Filly Miss Maryland Field

BOWIE, Md., Feb. 15 (UPI)—Harold H. Polk's Mle. Dianne is expected to be the betting favorite of a field of nine evenly matched 3-year-old fillies entered in tomorrow's $15,000-added Miss Maryland Stakes at Bowie.

Mle. Dianne, recent arrival from Hialeah where she set the pace in the Jasmine Stakes, carries top weight of 115 pounds and also jockey Nick Shuk.

Others entered in the five and one-half furlong feature race are Bernadotte stable's Kapichan; I.

J. Collins' Herb's Miss; Tom M. Girdler's Slipperoo; R. H. Hunt's Hoosier Honey; Lawrence W. Jennings' Granny Annie; Isidor Neuman's Mandalay Miss; Melvin H. Schlossberg's Nina Girl, and Mrs. Louise E. Vanier's Ocean Gem.

Ken Hammond of West Virginia Tech has regained first place in the small college individual basketball scoring race.

government as we reasonably can."

The testimony disclosed that officials have under "active study" the possibility of imposing "withholding taxes" on prize fighters.

However, no one as yet has come up with a satisfactory way of doing it. Officials fear it "might work an extreme hardship" to withhold taxes on gross income.

Many prize fighters and others who would be affected have heavy "business expenses" which cannot be figured in advance and which must be deducted before determining net income.

Tax collectors recently have been cracking down on delinquent taxpayers. In certain instances where prize fighters have had a bad record in paying their back taxes the government has arranged to have a part of their purses or prizes paid to the government.

Patman Urges End To 'Tight Money'

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15 (UPI)—Rep. Wright Patman (D-Texas) urged today an end to the so-called "tight money" policy in to renew its traditional adherence to the principle that "human welfare, the value of human beings and their economic security are far more important than the goal of the stable dollar."

In a speech to the Democratic National Conference, Patman expressed belief that this policy "ought to be reversed."

"There is not enough concern about the hardships of deflation, unemployment, business failures and farm foreclosures," he said.

"I am more concerned about the recent rise in unemployment to nearly three millions, about the lack of classrooms for our children, about our great housing needs, and about the growing threat of monopoly control that I am about the danger of inflation."

"Experience has shown that we have many weapons to effectively cope with inflation, but our ability to reverse a depression has yet to be demonstrated."

He claimed that men in high places believe recession is a lesser evil than a rise in prices.

"As for myself, if I must choose between a policy that maximizes expansion and growth with a mild inflationary trend in the short run, or one that strengthens our economy and undermines competition and would plunge us into recession, unemployment, bankruptcy and farm foreclosures, my libraries across the state.

Martin Revises Official Roster

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15 (UPI)—Publication of the revised edition of the state roster of officials was announced today by Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr.

Corrected through Jan. 18, the roster lists names, titles and addresses of all elected and appointed state, district and parish officers and mayors of the state's 342 incorporated municipalities.

There are approximately 6,000 separate entries.

The 177-page booklet also carries, by parishes, designations of congressional, judicial, state senatorial, public service commissions against one that strengthens our economy and undermines competition and would plunge us into recession, unemployment, bankruptcy and farm foreclosures, my libraries across the state.

Martin said the roster is being distributed now to officials and

Israel Seeks 'Clarification' On UN Proposal To Withdraw From Gaza

JERUSALEM, Israel, Feb. 15 (UPI)—Israel is reported seeking "clarification" of U. S. Secretary of State Dulles' proposal for the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Gaza and the Gulf of Aqaba areas. New instructions were sent to Ambassador Abba Eban.

Eban, ambassador to the United States and head of Israel's U. N. delegation, was expected to confer with Dulles today. There was speculation in Jerusalem the envoy would outline new Israeli conditions for acceptance of the U.S. plan on the disputed areas.

Israel has made it clear it is not satisfied with the American formula and wants Washington to go beyond its promises of "support." The Israelis apparently want some assurance of concrete American action to protect Israel's interests.

Under the Dulles plan, the United States would support Israel's right to freedom of shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba at the northern end of the Red Sea. For this consideration, Israel would pull its troops from the Sharm el Sheikh strip of Egyptian territory at the Strait of Tiran leading into the gulf.

Prior to the Israeli attack on Egypt, Egyptian guns at the strait barred Israel's ships from entering the gulf en route to the Israeli port of Eilat.

The other main point of the Dulles proposal calls for Israeli forces to leave the Gaza Strip, renewal of Egyptian raids on Israeli territory from the Gaza area.

Israel maintains Egypt will resume its acts of belligerency based on the Gaza Strip if Egyptian forces are readmitted to it.

The Israeli reply on the U.S. plan was given final form at two Cabinet meetings held yesterday at the Tel Aviv home of ailing Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Patman Urges End To 'Tight Money'

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15 (UPI)—Rep. Wright Patman (D-Texas) called today for an end to the so-called "tight money" policy in this country's economy.

In a speech to the Democratic National Conference, Patman expressed belief that this policy "ought to be reversed."

"There is not enough concern about the hardships of deflation, unemployment, business failures and farm foreclosures," he said.

"I am more concerned about the recent rise in unemployment to nearly three millions, about the lack of classrooms for our children, about our great housing needs, and about the growing threat of monopoly control than I am about the danger of inflation."

"Experience has shown that we have many weapons to effectively cope with inflation, but our ability to reverse a depression has yet to be demonstrated."

He claimed that men in high places believe recession is less evil than a rise in prices.

"As for myself, if I must choose between a policy that maximizes expansion and growth with a mild inflationary trend in the short run, as against one that strengthens monopoly and undermines competition and would plunge us into recession, unemployment, bankruptcies and farm foreclosures, my choice would毫不犹豫地 be for the former."

Patman called upon his party to renew its traditional adherence to the principle that "human welfare, the value of human beings and their economic security are far more important than the goal of the stable dollar."

Martin Revises Official Roster

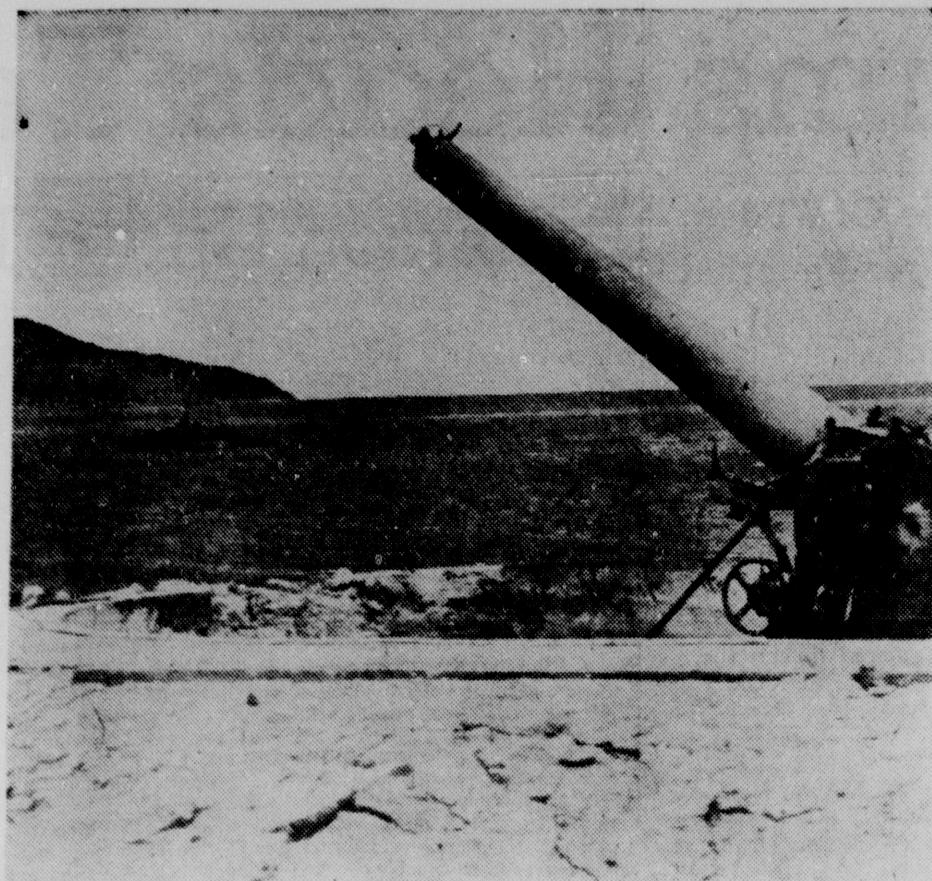

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15 (UPI)—Publication of the revised edition of the state roster of officials was announced today by Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr.

Corrected through Jan. 18, the roster lists names, titles and addresses of all elected and appointed state, district and parish officers and mayors of the state's 242 incorporated municipalities.

There are approximately 6,000 separate entries.

The 177-page booklet also carries, by parishes, designations of congressional, judicial, state senators, public service commission, supreme court and court of appeal election districts.

Martin said the roster is being distributed now to officials and libraries across the state.

SPIKED SENTRY—An Israeli naval frigate sails the Straits of Tiran into the controversial Gulf of Aqaba past a spiked Egyptian coastal artillery piece. The big gun was silenced by Israeli troops who poured into Egypt at the start of the current Middle East crisis. The Gulf of Aqaba, which stretches for 100 miles from the Red Sea to the southern tips of Israel and Jordan, is a lifeline for both countries and Israel has made its right to navigate this gulf a key point in its current bargaining. Israel Seeks 'Clarification' On UN Proposal To Withdraw From Gaza JERUSALEM, Israel Sector Feb. 15 (UPI)—Israel is reported seeking "clarification" of U. S. Secretary of State Dulles' proposal for the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Gaza and the Gulf of Aqaba areas. New instructions were sent to Ambassador Abba Eban.

Eban, ambassador to the United States and head of Israel's U. N. delegation, was expected to confer with Dulles today. There was speculation in Jerusalem the envoy would outline new Israeli conditions for acceptance of the U.S. plan on the disputed areas.

Israel has made it clear it is not satisfied with the American formula and wants Washington to go beyond its promises of "support." The Israelis apparently want some assurance of concrete American action to protect Israel's interests.

Under the Dulles plan, the United States would support Israel's right to freedom of shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba at the northern end of the Red Sea. For this consideration, Israel would pull its troops from the Sharm el Sheikh strip of Egyptian territory at the Strait of Tiran leading into the gulf.

Prior to the Israeli attack on Egypt, Egyptian guns at the strait barred Israel's ships from entering the gulf en route to the Israeli port of Eilat.

The other main point of the Dulles proposal calls for Israeli forces to leave the Gaza Strip, renewal of Egyptian raids on Israeli territory from the Gaza area.

Israel maintains Egypt will resume its acts of belligerency based on the Gaza Strip if Egyptian forces are readmitted to it. Egypt held this territory from 1948 until the Israeli invasion.

The Israeli reply on the U.S. plan was given final form at two Cabinet meetings held yesterday at the Tel Aviv home of ailing Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Travel Council Elects Switzer

CROSSETT, Feb. 15 (Special)—The executive committee of the Arkansas Travel Council, Inc., elected Ovid T. Switzer, local attorney and businessman, as a member of the board of directors.

The Arkansas Travel Council was organized last month by leaders in the travel business with the objective of planning and promoting a coordinated program of developing and advertising Arkansas' many natural tourist attractions, making the state known as a vacation spot.

Others on the flight were Capt. James L. Penty Jr.; Capt. John F. Nielson, the pilot; and Lt. Alfred A. Raneri Jr. Raneri passed out from lack of oxygen but recovered shortly before the plane landed.

He is also vice-chairman of the Arkansas publicity and parks commission.

Fine Arts Club Extends Invitation To Louisiana State Music Convention

Members of the Fine Arts Club held their February meeting early this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Allison, 1401 Emerson Avenue, with Mr. Leon Hammonds and Miss Marie Minard assisting with the courtesies.

Mr. Wilbur Bullock, Jr., president over the business session that preceded the program. One of the major items of business was that of electing officers for the 1957-1958 club year. They are as follows: President, Mrs. Ray D. Magruder; vice president, Mrs. Eloise Calhoun Stanhope; recording secretary, Miss Marie Minard; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dolly Douglas; treasurer, Mrs. Geraldine Carroll; reporter, Mr. John Cale; parliamentarian, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson.

Club members also voted to join other federated music clubs of the city in extending an invitation to the Louisiana State Music Convention to hold its 1958 meeting in Monroe.

Miss May Read, February program chairman, introduced Dr. Marvin McKneely, assistant professor of English at Northeast Louisiana State College, who gave a most interesting lecture on Louisiana Literature.

In his discussion the speaker pointed out the general nature of the subject matter chosen by the writers in and about Louisiana. These were the Acadians, the Creoles, the Negro, and New Orleans and its surroundings. He further emphasized that the greater portion of the literature concerned the southern part of the state with little or no picturization of the northern section. Mr. George Brian, of the Northeast Louisiana State College Speech faculty, who discussed a movie picturization of the history of Monroe, further emphasized the lack of literature on the northern portion of the state.

Mr. Brian said in part that for several years now Northeast Louisiana State College has been planning a film history of Monroe and some of the surrounding area. The project, original idea for which came from President

Slater, has progressed rather slowly due to the difficulty in establishing accuracy as to the early history of the locality. Famous historical names, such as Don Juan Filhol, the Marquis de

Maison Rouge, and the Baron de

Bastrop, as well as local names

such as Louis Alexander Bread-and Abram Morehouse, will be mentioned and given brief character sketches.

The film is to be completed within a year, and the College

plans a large premiere to display

the finished product. The exact date is not yet set, as filming conditions will play an important part in deciding it.

Mrs. Allison used red camellias and spring flowers throughout the reception suite to develop a valentine theme, and during the festive hour that followed served refreshments to the following members and guests: Miss Eleona

Brinsmade, Mr. Wilbur Bullock

Jr., Mrs. Geraldine Carroll, Mrs.

Dolly Douglas; treasurer, Mrs.

Geraldine Carroll; reporter, Mr.

John Cale; parliamentarian, Mrs.

E. Everett Lawson.

Club members also voted to join other federated music clubs of the city in extending an invitation to the Louisiana State

Music Convention to hold its 1958

meeting in Monroe.

YOUR PROBLEMS

I Never Knew A Glance Could Create Such Magic

Dear Ann: I've been married 11 years and have three darling children. My husband is a fine fellow and we always get along well together. In fact we are considered an ideal couple.

Our friends are all married and though he has monopolized my time and has been a very attentive beau.

I want to put an end to this "dating" and get married. It seems it's time he made his intentions known or stopped seeing a school girl. He always mane-mane. My children say I'll spoil us to sit close by and we dance things by being too hasty. What divinely together. I sense he's your opinion?—E. M. T.

Welcome Book Club Luncheon Highlighted By Three Talks

An address by Mrs. John Kenton, president of Fifth District Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, a book review by Mrs. V. S. Garnett, and a parliamentary law forum chairman by Mrs. A. S. Gunter highlighted the Federation Day luncheon meeting of Welcome Book Club Wednesday afternoon at the YWCA building on Jackson Street, with 24 present.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. L. F. Bewick and Mrs. J. G. Hicks, who greeted guests at the door.

The luncheon table was centered with a striking Victorian arrangement of variegated pink, red, and white camellias in a crystal and silver epergne silhouetted against an elevated large red satin and net heart. Red lace hearts centered with red Professor Sergeant camellias, and circles of ivy and red Donkerle camellias were used the entire length of the luncheon table. The reception rooms were decorated with large white urns of white narcissi.

In her address, "This Is Your Federation," Mrs. Kenton created a vivid picture of clubwomen in action, and enumerated several outstanding contributions to the welfare of the nation.

Mrs. V. S. Garnett reviewed Lily Dache's "Glamour Book," which depicts the story of the accomplishments of a French immigrant girl who landed in New York at the age of eighteen with thirteen dollars to begin her life in this country. Mrs. Garnett traced the colorful progress of this woman who became president of four different establishments, and summed up her philosophy of living in her quote, "Glamour is part spiritual and part facts, and making the most of what you have, and being honest with one's self. Beauty begins with the man Coon was appointed year-inside."

Mrs. A. S. Gunter assisted by Mrs. J. D. Petty and Mrs. A. J. Speer, presented a brief parliamentary law forum, which highlighted the proper procedure for different phases of the business session.

During the business period, presided over by Mrs. James Horton, president, members were led in the reading of the club collect and pledge to the flag by Mrs. J. D. Petty. Mrs. Horton announced the date of the Fifth District meeting to be held in Mangham on March 23. Delegates to the convention were elected as follows: Mrs. James Horton, with alternate Mrs. L. F. Bewick; Mrs. F. E. Black, with alternate Mrs. Zell Smith; Mrs. V. S. Garnett, with Mrs. R. E. Coleman as alternate.

Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy was elected to membership in the club. The business period closed with the election of officers for 1957-58 as follows: Mrs. V. S. Garnett, president; Mrs. B. R. Olinhant, first vice-president; Mrs. A. S. Gunter, second vice-president; Mrs. F. H. Peterson, recording secretary; Mrs. J. D. Petty, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. L. Dr. Coon Speaks To Mangham Literary Club

In the home of Mrs. Traylor Jones, in Mangham Dr. Margaret Coon spoke on "Our Neighborhood and the World." She reminded the ladies of the Mangham Literary Club that the circle of close friends was small, the circle of acquaintances not very large but within those circles we have let human prejudice and ill will come, much of which could be eliminated if we took the time to talk to people and show them our concern for them.

The club felt it was a great privilege to have Dr. Coon speak to them.

The program leader, Mrs. Traylor Jones, then presented Miss Olga Cooper, who gave a most interesting reading from the Clubwoman, suggesting a way in which each person can help to widen the thin line which divides hunger from the world.

The club collect was repeated in unison by the members of the club.

Clues Sought In Suitcase Bombing

CLINTON, Tenn. Feb. 15 (AP) — A dynamite-laden suitcase exploded in the heart of Clinton's Negro section last night, wrecking a restaurant and slightly injuring a Negro woman and baby.

The dynamite charge, which witnesses said was placed by a white man who raced away in a car, also heavily damaged other Negro-owned property.

The blast was the area's eighth, and by far the most destructive, since Clinton High School admitted 12 Negro students under a federal court order last fall.

In the absence of concrete clues, however, officers still declined to speculate as to whether integration of the previously all-white school is connected with the series of explosions.

Police said the suitcase, which contained "several" sticks of dynamite, was placed on a concrete slab across the street from a restaurant where several Negroes were eating. The Negroes said they saw a white man stop, leave the suitcase, jump back into his car and speed away.

The blast caved in the ceiling and inner walls of the basement restaurant.

The woman, identified as Emma Simmons, suffered a knot on the head when hit by falling plaster; the 11-month-old girl, Jacqueline Gallaher, was cut by flying glass. Neither was believed seriously hurt.

Also damaged was a nearby sandwich shop owned by Steve Williams, father of a 21-year-old senior suspended from the integrated school on grounds he struck a white boy and threatened others with a knife Feb. 4.

Jim Loggans, reporter for the Clinton Courier-News, said the plate glass window was blown from the front of the sandwich shop. He said Williams' home was one of about 25 or 30 Negro homes in which window glass was shattered. All were within a 100-yard radius of the blast.

Two cars owned by Negroes were damaged.

"They're scared, they're bewildered and they're mad," Loggans said of the Negroes. "One of them said he's going back to North Carolina. One man said, 'I can't understand it. We're living in the United States, but we've been intimidated and threatened until we can't stand much more.'"

Clinton's racial troubles started the last week in August, when the Anderson County School Board, under orders of the U. S. District Court in Knoxville, admitted 12 Negro students to the high school.

Demonstrations during that week resulted in the National Guard and state troopers being summoned by Gov. Frank Clement to restore order. John Kasper, segregationist from Washington, D.C., was sentenced to a year in federal prison for stirring up the disturbances. He is free on bond.

Sixteen other persons have been charged with violating the court order in connection with disturbances which closed the school temporarily in December.

BAKED APPLES—The remains of a fire that destroyed Lakeview Curb Market on DeSard road were baskets of baked apples and other produce. The curb market, owned by M. D. Weaver, burned level to the ground while firemen fought from shortly after 1 a.m. to 4 a.m. Two parked automobiles were badly scorched in the fire. (Staff photo by Greg Hare.)

Love Can Bring Supreme Joy, Break Queen's Heart

By WALTER WINCHELL

Love, the grand and mysterious emotion, can bring supreme joy to ordinary folks or break the heart of a Queen. The process is always magical and fascinating, for Rosalind Russell it began when Cary Grant introduced her to Fred Brisson. He began phoning her and she responded in female fashion: Roz ignored him, Brisson was determined, to put it mildly. He continued calling for a mere nine months. On Valentine's Day he sent her a huge heart filled with roses. When he requested a date again, Roz accepted. And that was the beginning of a happy ending.

Recalling her courtship the star sighed: "Love is sure funny. Suddenly I just couldn't wait to drop the net over him."

A more staid element was a decisive factor in Deborah Kerr's love life. The lovely actress has the distinction of winning a battle and conquering a soldier during World War II. He was Tony Bartley, a Royal Air Force hero. Before proposing to Deborah he called on Sir Laurence Olivier for counsel. He feared Sir Charles and Lady Bartley would oppose his marriage to an actress. Sir Laurence's advice was candid: "Don't worry about what your family will think. She is a good actress. She is also unreasonably chaste."

Miss Kerr later commented wryly: "Word of such a dreary reputation has a way of getting around."

Edith Adams' happy conquest, ironically, was the consequence of a defeat. Although she lost a "Talent Scouts" show her performance impressed the star of a Philly tv program. So Ernie Kovacs gave her a job. It wasn't long before they were enslaved by that many-splendored thing. Strangely, Edith fell in love with a comic because he isn't funny — oftstage. As Mrs. Kovacs explains: "I expected him to be a typical Broadway comedian who is knocking himself out to be a wise-guy all the time. But he was different. Away from work he was gentle and intelligent and sweet. I knew he was for me." (Loonnggg sighhhh.)

Cupid, the gay ragamuffin, is not only funny. Occasionally his antics are downright farcical. As a case in point there's Mary Martin's strange romantic origins. When she was one of Hollywood's prize chattels she posed for publicity photos with a bear. Mr. Grizzly became rambunctious and almost hugged Mary to death before she was rescued. The story of the adventure was related to a studio exec who listened impatiently and finally jeered: "Mary Martin will do anything for publicity. She hasn't any talent."

Oddly, Maria was not indignant when informed of the harsh rebuke. She vowed to win his friendship and respect. She also won his heart. Several months later they were married.

As Miss Martin's experience indicates, the whimsical quality of love generally transcends logic. It strikes like lightning. And the thunder may last a lifetime. . . . Lucy and Desi met when they toiled on the same movie set. They portrayed lovers during the day and spent their evenings falling in love. Everything wasn't all blue skies and stars, however. After a series of spats and reconciliations Lover Boy went to New York. One night he called Hollywood and pleaded with Lucy to join him. Desi proposed the day she arrived. They merged the following morning — with a dime-store ring purchased at the last moment.

When clowns play Romeo the results are unusual. The Steve Allen-Jayne Meadows romance, for example, had a unique launching. On their initial date, Steve didn't escort her to a show or nightclub. He took her to the Planetarium, of all places. After ten months he proposed. However, a girl is a girl is a girl.

Mrs. A. recently confessed: "I kept saying no for a year but the whole time I was thinking yes."

Another happy valentine began in a strange manner. Paul Muni's dedication to the theatre is apparently boundless. If you're skeptical about the foregoing statement we submit the following as conclusive evidence: The star's intense preoccupation with his art reached a peak on the day he was married. It was the day he began rehearsals for a show that was going on tour. Following the ceremony Muni gave his bride a hearty handshake and rushed away to rehearsals. Mrs. Muni returned to her mother's home — where the groom dutifully phoned her every evening for the next two weeks. The honeymoon began fifteen days after the wedding — when the bride and groom went touring with the show.

Although minstrels express love in terms of pretty words and sounds — and the jingles are echoed around the world by nightingales like Rosemary Clooney — reality is far different. . . . Jose Ferrer and Rosie met when they were making personal appearances together. The Oldest Emotion was ignited. They had a problem — Ferrer was married. As he frankly explains: "I wasn't free to marry them — but when we fell in love — we didn't duck around corners and hide. We were open and above board about the way we felt about each other. It isn't that I'm more honest than anybody else. I've learned that lying is impracticable. Also, it's a waste of time and you look like an idiot when you're caught."

When Eva Marie Saint fell in love with Jeffrey Hayden she was beset with emotional problems. Being sophisticated youngsters they decided that marriage was impossible until the emotional difficulties were eliminated. Hayden was undergoing psychoanalysis and Eva joined him. Two years later she left the analyst's couch a well-adjusted woman and married Hayden. In this case Cupid was Freud.

The Danny Kaye - Sylvia Fine romance began in the best scenario manner — with a song. She was playing songs she had composed for a semi-pro theatrical group when a listener named Danny Kaye spontaneously began chanting the tune. The group decided to do a revue starring Danny. After the show folded, they decided to wed. Kaye described their financial position at the time: "Sylvia had forty dollars and was fifty dollars in debt."

Audrey Hepburn has succinctly related her love story with Mel Ferrer: "I met him, liked him, loved him, married him." Of course, love isn't always so cast-iron. Nevertheless, nothing is more enduring and powerful than the warm simplicities of life — love and marriage. No cynic should scorn its strength. It is real and effective. Those who are barren of love merely have the physical qualifications for existence. Only those who love — live.

When clowns play Romeo the results are unusual. The Steve

WEST POINT, Miss., Feb. 15 (AP)—Near the end of its four-month global tour, the Duke of Edinburgh last week rumors were published in the United States of a rift between the royal couple. The story brought a denial of "quite untrue" from Buckingham Palace. After a three-day silence, some London newspapers told the British public such stories had been published and termed the rumors "silly, ridiculous and baseless."

Elizabeth and Philip took no notice of the rumors. A palace informant described the Queen as happy and looking forward eagerly to joining her husband. "We realize they have been separated for some months," one source said.

The royal couple planned to spend the weekend aboard the Britannia, anchored off Lisbon, for Australia, where he hoped bad weather may force them to move ashore. Private accommodations were ready on land.

Clues Sought In Suitcase Bombing

CLINTON, Tenn., Feb. 15 (AP) — A dynamite-laden suitcase exploded in the heart of Clinton's Negro section last night, wrecking a restaurant and slightly injuring a Negro woman and baby.

The dynamite charge, which witnesses said was placed by a white man who raced away in a car, also heavily damaged other Negro-owned property.

The blast was the area's eighth, and by far the most destructive, since Clinton High School admitted 12 Negro students under a federal court order last fall.

In the absence of concrete clues, however, officers still declined to speculate as to whether integration of the previously all-white school is connected with the series of explosions.

Police said the suitcase, which contained "several" sticks of dynamite, was placed on a concrete slab across the street from a restaurant where several Negroes were eating. The Negroes said they saw a white man stop, leave the suitcase, jump back into his car and speed away.

The blast caved in the ceiling and inner walls of the basement restaurant. The woman, identified as Emma Simmons, suffered a knot on the head when hit by falling plaster; the 11-month-old girl, Jacqueline Gallaher, was cut by flying glass. Neither was believed seriously hurt.

Also damaged was a nearby sandwich shop owned by Steve Williams, father of a 21-year-old senior suspended from the integrated school on grounds he struck a white boy and threatened others with a knife Feb. 4.

Jim Loggans, reported for the Clinton Courier-News, said the plate glass window was blown from the front of the sandwich shop. He said Williams' home was one of about 25 or 30 Negro homes in which window glass was shattered. All were within a 100-yard radius of the blast.

Two cars owned by Negroes were damaged.

"They're scared, they're bewildered and they're mad," Loggans said of the Negroes. "One of them said he's going back to North Carolina. One man said, 'I can't understand it. We're living in the United States, but we've been intimidated and threatened until we can't stand much more.'

Clinton's racial troubles started the last week in August, when the Anderson County School Board, under orders of the U. S. District Court in Knoxville, admitted 12 Negro students to the high school.

Demonstrations during that week resulted in the National Guard and state troopers being sent in by Gov. Frank Clement to restore order. John Kasper, segregationist from Washington, D.C., was sentenced to a year in federal prison for stirring up the disturbances. He is free on bond.

Sixteen other persons have been charged with violating the court order in connection with disturbances which closed the school temporarily in December.

Love Can Bring Supreme Joy, Break Queen's Heart

By WALTER WINCHELL

Love, the grand and mysterious emotion, can bring supreme joy to ordinary folks or break the heart of a Queen. The process is always magical and fascinating. For Rosalind Russell it began when Cary Grant introduced her to Fred Brisson. He began phoning her and she responded in female fashion: Roz ignored him. Brisson was determined, to put it mildly. He continued calling for a mere nine months. On Valentine's Day he sent her a huge heart filled with roses. When he requested a date again, Roz accepted. And that was the beginning of a happy ending.

Recalling her courtship the star sighed: "Love is sure funny. Suddenly I just couldn't wait to the net over him."

Another happy valentine began in a strange manner. Paul Muni's dedication to the theatre is apparently boundless. If you're skeptical about the foregoing statement we submit the following as conclusive evidence: The star's intense preoccupation with his art reached a peak on the day he was married. It was the day he began rehearsals for a show that was going on tour. Following the ceremony Muni gave his bride a hearty handshake and rushed away to rehearsals. Mrs. Muni returned to her mother's home—where the groom dutifully phoned her every evening for the next two weeks. The honeymoon began fifteen days after the wedding—when the bride and groom went touring with the show.

Miss Kerr later commented wryly: "Word of such a dreary reputation has a way of getting around."

Edith Adams' happy conquest, ironically, was the consequence of a defeat. Although she lost a "Talent Scout" show her performance impressed the star of a Philly tv program. So Ernie Kovacs gave her a job. It wasn't long before they were enslaved by that many-splendored thing. Strangely, Edith fell in love with a comic because he isn't funny—ostfass. As Mrs. Kovacs explains: "I expected him to be a typical Broadway comedian who is knocking himself out to be a wise-guy all the time. But he was different. Away from work he was gentle and intelligent and sweet. I knew he was for me." (Loomnggg sighhhh.)

Cupid, the gay ragamuffin, is not only funny. Occasionally his antics are downright farcical. As a case in point there's Mary Martin's strange romantic origins. When she was one of Hollywood's prize chattels she posed for publicity photos with a bear. Mr. Grizzley became rambunctious and almost hugged Mary to death before she was rescued. The story of the adventure was related to a studio exec who listened impatiently and finally jeered: "Mary Martin will do anything for publicity. She hasn't any talent."

Oddly, Mary was not indignant when informed of the harsh rebuke. She vowed to win his friendship and respect. She also won his heart. Several months later they were married.

As Miss Martin's experience indicates, the whimsical quality of love generally transcends logic. It strikes like lightning. And the thunder may last a lifetime... Lucy and Desi met when they toiled on the same movie set. They portrayed lovers during the day and spent their evenings falling in love. Everything wasn't all blue skies and stars, however. After a series of spats and reconciliations Lover Boy went to New York. One night he called Hollywood and pleaded with Lucy to join him. Desi proposed the day she arrived. They merged the following morning—with a dime-store ring purchased at the last moment.

When Eva Marie Saint fell in love with Jeffrey Hayden she was best with emotional problems. Being sophisticated youngsters they decided that marriage was impossible until the emotional difficulties were eliminated. Hayden was undergoing psychoanalysis and Eva joined him. Two years later she left the analyst's couch a well-adjusted woman and married Hayden. In this case Cupid was Freud.

The Danny Kaye - Sylvia Fine romance began in the best scenario manner—with a song. She was playing songs she had composed for a semi-pro theatrical group when a listener named Danny Kaye spontaneously began chanting the tune. The group decided to do a revue starring Danny.

After the show folded, they decided to wed. Kaye described their financial position at the time: "Sylvia had forty dollars and I was fifty dollars in debt."

Audrey Hepburn has reluctantly related her love story with Mel Ferrer: "I met him, liked him, loved him, married him." Of course, love isn't always so casual. It radiates heartaches as well as bliss. Nevertheless, nothing is more enduring and powerful than the warm simplicities of life—love and marriage. No cynic should scorn its strength. It is real and effective. Those who are barren of love merely have the physical qualifications for existence. Only those who love—live.

In blasting the governor, whom he called a "would-be dictator," Gerhart issued a challenge: "I dare and defy the good governor to go to court and find out who has the most authority in district five of Lowndes County, the justice of the peace and the people who selected him or the governor of the state of Mississippi."

Garrett's comment did not relate to the state's statement but it included the association's plans to next Legislature for an increase in fees.

Meanwhile, he said, "most justices over the state are cooperating in maintaining a uniform cost schedule."

He has been an outspoken opponent of Coleman's plans to re-investigate the justice of the peace court system.

Mints Step Up Penny Output

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP) — There is a big increase in the demand for pennies and the mint is stepping up its output.

Piggy banks, sales taxes, and people who throw pennies to drivers got part of the blame for the increased penny demand.

Mint Director William H. Brett

In the shuffle of moving to its new plant, the News-Star-World misplaced several installments of the Joe Palooka comic strip. Readers are asked to bear with us until other installments are received.

Homestead Tax Rolls Are Ready

Homestead exemption forms are now available for signing, Bert Coverdale Ouachita Parish tax assessor, has announced. The forms may be signed in the assessor's office, first floor of the court house.

Signature on the application forms will entitle home owners to $2,000 exemption from parish and state taxes. In the event the home owner is a veteran, he will be entitled to $5,000 exemption.

Leland Howard, assistant director of the mint, said he understood there had been a change in the monetary habits of the public. "We have sales taxes, vending machines, and all types of odd pricing, such as $3.98 and so on," Brett said.

In good times, he said, people toss more of their coins into a box.

Brett said.

April 15 is the final date for signing the forms.

Future Leaders' Annual Meeting Scheduled Today

The annual meeting of the North Louisiana District Future Business Leaders of America will be held today at the West Monroe High School. A highlight of the event will be the election of the 1957 Mr. and Miss FBLA.

The meeting opening at 8:30 a.m. will be devoted to general convocations, contests, and election of the district vice-president to succeed Odie Howze of West Monroe. "The meeting will be an asset to business students in the northern district," according to Ann Thompson, business teacher in West Monroe.

The program will stress practicability, and will seek to eliminate contestants on the district level so as to select competition for the state meeting in Alexandria, March 22. Contest for Mr. and Miss FBLA, spelling, speech, and song will be conducted Saturday. Winners will compete at the state convention.

On the social calendar is a luncheon in the high school cafeteria at noon and a "sock hop" in the gym at 3 p.m. Admission to the luncheon is 75 cents. There is no monetary charge to the sock hop; however, FBLA membership cards will be required.

High leaders expected to attend are: Miss Gladys Peck, state superintendent of business education; Richard Clanton, executive secretary of FBLA, and Sonny Kolt, state president of FBLA.

Judges will rate the contestants as superior, excellent, very good, and good. Superior winners will be sent to the state convention.

Parishes comprising the northern district of F. B. L. A. are: Caddo, Bossier, Webster, Claiborne, Union, Morehouse, West Carroll, East Carroll, Madison, Richland, Ouachita, Lincoln, Bienville, DeSoto, Red River, Jackson, Caldwell, Franklin, Tensas, and Monroe city school system.

Truman Slated To Be Grandpa

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman is scheduled to become a grandfather, a role he has coveted, his only child, Mrs. Clinton Daniel, expects her first baby about July.

The husband of the former Margaret Truman confirmed her impending motherhood today. He said his wife is getting along fine. Daniel works on the city desk of the New York Times.

The newspaperman said Margaret has broken the good news to her parents. Of the former Democratic President, Daniel said:

"I'm sure he's pleased." Asked once about his daughter's career as a singer, Truman replied that frankly he would rather have a grandchild.

Margaret marks her 33rd birthday on Sunday.

She and Daniel were married in Independence, Mo., last April 21. It was the first marriage for both. He is 44.

Daniel said it hasn't been decided yet where Margaret will have her baby, here in New York or out in Missouri to be near her parents.

The Daniel marriage occurred three days after the widely publicized marriage of actress Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier of Monaco. Princess Grace had her first baby, a girl, last Jan. 23.

Mrs. Daniel and her husband met at a dinner party in New York in November 1955. Their engagement was announced last March 12.

A handsome, prematurely gray native of Zebulon, N. C., Daniel was a World War II correspondent. Later, he served as a foreign correspondent in England, Germany and Russia.

ICC Authorizes Southern Rail Ticket Hikes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission

today authorized a 5 per cent increase in railroad passenger fares in the South and in New England. The increase applies to both coach and first class travel.

The hike in the South will be effective on Wednesday, Feb. 20.

This will mark a nationwide 5 per cent increase in fares, since ICC previously had authorized a 5 per cent advance in the west and on eastern lines operating south of New England last month.

The commission still has under consideration proposals by six major eastern railroads to raise their first class fares by an additional 40 per cent in a "bold move" to eliminate mounting deficits in passenger service.

Missing Person Reported Found

One of three missing Monroe persons being sought by local officials was said to have been located yesterday in Delta, Alabama.

Relatives of Major Richard Williams of 306 Pershing Ave., missing since Monday told Ouchita sheriff he was in that city and was "okay."

Two other persons, a father and his 12-year-old daughter last night remained objects of a wide-spread search.

Officers identified them as Hossay Barlow, 33, and Martha, his daughter.

Barlow and his daughter have been missing since around 3 p.m. Monday.

Police believe the two are together, since the father was to have picked up the girl at school Monday afternoon.

Barlow is described as being six feet, one inch tall, weighing 190 pounds. When last seen he was wearing a blue suit. Relatives said he sometimes wears glasses.

Martha is five feet tall, weigh-

Ruston Launches Drive To Clean Up News Stands

RUSTON, Feb. 15 (Special)—A spirited movement was started today to rid Ruston's newsstands of obscene and vulgar literature.

Leading the clean-up drive which is being conducted in the nature of enlisting public sentiment, is the citizen's council of Ruston, which under its charter, has as its objective the betterment of public welfare among other things.

Mayor A. C. Beasley told the leader he had been contacted by officials of the organization and that he and the Ruston police department were heartily in favor of the campaign. "I would like to see public sentiment grow to the extent that such literature would be forced from the newsstands here, and anything that the city administration can do to aid in movement will be done."

It is problematical that the forces of law enforcement can be used because of lack of authority, it was explained. And, as a result, the campaign is being aimed at arousing public sentiment, the leaders and city officials said.

Treasury Forecast Puts Stock Prices Up Sharply

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—The stock market, buoyed by Treasury Secretary Humphrey's statement to Congress, rallied vigorously today to complete the job of erasing losses taken in the week's first two sessions.

In fact, the market was slightly ahead of its standing a week ago, on average.

The surprising recovery came in the second half of a session which had an unimpressive start.

But the final result was a string of gains ranging from 1 to 3 points on many key stocks and stretching to 5 or so for a few.

Just before the close, the buying mood had built up in an enthusiastic rush and prices were charging ahead with a vengeance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $2.20 to $172.50 with the industrials up $4.00, the rails up $1.60 and the utilities up 27.

Lukens Steel Company announced it is planning to build a new $1 million steel plate testing laboratory at Coatesville, Pa. The new facility is needed, the company said, for testing requirements for its growing volume of business, particularly for such special items as clad, alloy and stainless steel plate. Construction is expected to begin by the end of the month and it is scheduled for completion by the end of the year.

Kennecott Copper Corp. declared distribution of $1.50 on common on March 25th to holders of record March 1. The company paid the same amount in December when year end special of $2.50 was also distributed.

The Navy awarded General Electric company a $4,000,000 contract for construction of the main propulsion turbines and gears for the fleet's first nuclear-powered surface ship.

Auto production this week will raise to 150,370 cars. This is the highest since mid December and 17 per cent greater than a year ago.

Vertol Aircraft notified stockholders that Northrop Aircraft has withdrawn its offer to merge with Vertol on the basis of two shares of Northrop for each share of Vertol.

National Alfalfa Dehydrating and Milling Company has acquired the Alfalfa Dehydrating facilities of Saunders Mills.

Wheat closed 1/2 lower to 7/8 higher, corn 3/4 to 1 cent lower, oats 1 1/8-1 1/2 lower, rye 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, soybeans 1 1/2-2 1/2 lower and lard 2 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher.
